(Special Air-Mail Service)

LIFE GUARDS' ESCORT FOR KING AND QUEEN.

London, August 30.
The Life Guards, rarely seen on ceremonial occasions outside London, provided a Sovereign's Escort in Leeds to-day when the King and Queen drove through the city streets.

The King opened the new Civic Hall, and, with the Queen, drove there from the city boundary in a State coach.

Tens of thousands of men and women gave their Majesties a memorable Yorkshire welcome.

As they reached the boundary a salute of 21 guns was fired by artillery on Woodhouse Moor, and the Earl of Harewood, as Lord-lieutenant of the West Riding, presented the Lord Mayor of Leeds (Alderman R. H. Blackburn).

A fanfare of trumpets heralded
the arrival of the King and Queen at the great square facing the old Town Hall, where thousands of people sat on grand-stands amid masses of flowers.

In opening the new Civic Hall,
the King said:
"I am deeply conscious how intimately the well-being of the nation is bound up with the prosperity of our industry and commerce. In which the city of Leeds and its neighbours in the West Riding of Yorkshire play so important a part. It is my earnest hope and prayer that to-day's ceremony may prove the beginning of increased prosperity for this great city."

There was disappointment that the Princess Royal, with whom the King and Queen are staying at Harewood House, was unable to accompany them. In view of the uncertainty of the weather she remained at Harewood House.

OVERHAULING PARLIAMENT.

The parts of the Houses of Parliament to be next put in steel scaffolding splints preparatory to cleaning and overhauling of the stonework will, I learn, be the Speaker's House and the north end of the terrace.

In the autumn a gantry on piles is to be built out over the river, and on this and the existing gantry at the south end of the terrace the neat though heavy scaffolding will be built.

The cleaning of this part of the fabric will probably take two years. During that time the Speaker will be accommodated in the Sergeant-at-Arms' House.

The stonework, I am told, is particularly favoured for making crazy pavements.

FIRST NIGHTERS.

The first big theatrical premieres of the autumn are always pleasant functions. Regular theatregoers, whose palates became jaded during the season, have had time in which to recover and enjoy the new fare set before them.

Certainly the applause and the animation at the first night of "The Ace" at the Lyric Theatre were remarkable. Lord Milford Haven, the Duchess of Manchester, and Miss Dorothy Paget were a few of the well-known people noticed.

Mr. "Jim" Morrison, looking remarkably fit, and almost unmarked by the cuts he sustained in his crash, seemed to be greatly enjoying the play.

Mr. Leslie Henson was a member of a strong theatrical contingent also present.

RICHEST COLLEGE'S NEW ESTATE.

Trinity College, Cambridge, the richest of the colleges in the two ancient universities, with an income of £30,000 a year, is adding an estate of 4,000 acres to its present broad possessions. The purchase has been made as an investment.

The estate is in Suffolk, between Ipswich and Felixstowe, and comprises property in the parishes of Walton, Trimley St. Mary, Kirton, and Trimley St. Martin's. It is a portion of the estate of Mr. Pretyman, of Orwell Park, and includes seventeen farms, many small-holdings, and houses and cottages with a rent-roll of £4,000 a year.

The beautiful countryside to the north of the river Orwell is fami-lar to holiday-makers. The main road from Ipswich to Felixstowe passes through the estate from west to east, and provides attractive building sites. A large farm, containing some of the most fertile land in Suffolk, is to be continued, and as the purchase is one of agricultural land for investment, it is a notable indication of confidence in the future of arable farming.

HITLER'S FOUR K's.

Bismarck wrote culture with a capital K. It was a he-man's culture prescribed by a he-man doctor.

Herr Hitler, in his Kulturkampf for the regeneration of German womanhood, has gone one better.
His prescription has four capital
K's—Küche, Knecht, Kinder and Kleider, or Church, Kitchen, Children and Clothes.

For the moment the Nazi reformers are concentrating on the cloths, under which head they include such adornments as lip-stick, rouge, vanity bags and cigarette cases.

Just how far the Nazis are prepared to go in re-Teutonisising the German woman may be gauged from the following paragraph, which I take from the "Voelkischer Beobachter," the official organ of the Nazi Party:

Rouge and carmine may go with the grossly sensual faces and thick lips of oriental races, but the worst thing we can meet in the streets is a German woman who, in defiance of all the laws of beauty, disfigures her austere Nordic lines and her blue eyes with shrieking colours.

One should be able to take a sponge and basin in order to show her real face to this poor German wandering in the Oriental desert.

And already many German restaurants are plastered with notices: "German woman—do not smoke."

MR. JOHN AND THE "TATE"

The appointment of Mr. Angustus John, R.A., to the august ranks of the Tate Trustees, is an ironic climax to the tale of the one-time enfant terrible of British art.

NO CONFERENCE?

Shanghai Refuses To Give Permission

The possibility of Lord Marley and the other delegates to the projected anti-War Conference being compelled to return to whence they came, looms as a result of their failure to obtain permission to hold the Congress here.

It is learned that the delegates intend to cable to the headquarters of the World Committee against War in Paris for instructions, and it is expected that the answer will be to return home.

Hitherto no reply has been received from the Chinese Government to the delegates' request for sanction to hold the Conference in Chinese territory.—Reuter.

ARTIST-TRUSTEES.

The Tate Trustees are appointed by the Prime Minister, and must include four artists.

The colleagues whom Mr. John will find at Milbank are Mr. Glyn Philpot, R.A., Mr. F. Dodd,
R.A., and Mr. W. W. Russell,
R.A., the keeper of the Royal Academy Schools.

None of the three has so many pictures hanging in the Tate Gallery as Mr. John himself, who, with 15 paintings and drawings, has a score which is exceeded among living British artists only by Mr. Wilson Steer with 10.

The duties of the trustees, though sometimes awkward, are not arduous. They meet once a month, and their hardest task is thinking of excuses for refusing politely the gifts of friends with more generosity than taste.

MALAYAN CHAMPIONSHIP WON and British Record Broken with help of PHOSFERINE

CHAMPION OOI LEONG TEEN writes:—

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I write to testify to the benefits I have received by taking Phosferine during my training for the 1931 Malayan Weight-Lifting Championships.

As I had to reduce some seven or eight pounds off my normal bodyweight in order to enable me to compete in the 60-lb. class, I had to go into very strenuous training, and with the help of Phosferine, I not only won the championship of this class, but also the individual Championship, and, in addition I broke a British Record.

I therefore have no hesitation in recommending Phosferine to any physical culturist or athlete, whether he be in ordinary training or preparing for a competition, as it

GIVES ENERGY AND ENDURANCE AND RENEW'S BROKEN-DOWN TISSUE."

MODES of the MOMENT

MODES THAT MODIFY TROPICAL DISCOMFORT

COTTON FOR THE MID-SEASON

WOMEN in the tropics have every reason to be thankful for the cool styles from home. The newest cotton frocks are almost as good as a beauty treatment. The cool freshness of the materials makes us feel our very best. This season cotton is no longer the retiring country cousin. In fact it can be made to look every bit as sophisticated as the most exotic fabrics, while for ordinary every day wear it is hard to think of anything more practical and smart.

The other day I saw a group of cotton frocks and jacket ensembles which were ideal for the daytime occasion. Most of them were in rather heavy texture, which meant they would stand the busiest day without getting crushed or bed-ragged looking. Especially attractive were some dresses in a light shade of navy blue in plain and fancy weaves.

One had a darker stripe running through it and was trimmed with a row of flat white buttons all the way down the back of the bodice. I liked the narrow white silk pique halter collar finished with the narrowest edging of navy. Figured pique, and for that matter all types of pique, are very much in the foreground. So fresh and lovely for the fair-haired are the crushed strawberry pinks, while for the brunette there is a more dusky tone which is perfect for showing up an olive skin and dark eyes.

What a lot of green there is about, and how effective it is allied to that new brick shade which is going to be a leader in the coming season. I saw a charming apple green linen dress trimmed with a belt and buttons of the brick tone, and completed with a pair of loose linen gauntlet gloves to match. The hat was a smart sailor brim and one of the new crowns which tilt upwards at the back. It was trimmed with a band of green to match the dress.

Ginghams in the smallest checks imaginable, are considered right up-to-the-minute, as they are so inexpensive it is possible to include several of these amongst your new dresses. One style has a quaint little collar made from a crushed band of the material and it ties at the back in a rabbit's ear bow. The puffed sleeves are drawn into a similar band while the fitted bodice is joined to the skirt, which moulds the hip-line and has a slight flare at the hem.

Be sure to have some buttons either down the side or the back of your bodice, they are the last word in trimmings this season. A white pique jacket or else a swag-gar coat, three-quarter-length will be useful with these cotton frocks. All smartest models are severely plain with collarless neck-lines and loosely cut sleeves. I saw one of the other day worn over a dress in tiny checks and there was a hat and gloves to match.

Do not forget to profit by the fashion for quaint floral cottons, for they are youthful and dainty. Many of them are in field flower designs, which lend them plenty of color. The simpler the style the better; and if you are of the ingenu type you are sure to look well in a frock with a peasant neck-line drawn fairly close round the neck on a ribbon string.

The sleeves can be just as puffy as you please, and are finished with a ribbon to match the neck. One of those big shady hats with a narrow wreath of flowers is a charming accompaniment and a welcome protection against the glare.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF MAKE-UP

Never use too much make-up: powder, rouge, mascara, lipstick—anything in excess will draw attention to your worst feature.

Make up in daylight for the daytime, but put on your make-up under electric lights if you want to look your best in the evening.

Don't use a "white" make-up unless your skin is ivory clear and your eyes and hair are in strong contrast to it.

For the daytime, never use extreme make-up. Try to keep as near as possible to your natural coloring.

If you want to be original in the evening, experiment first. Try different colours of rouge, powder and lipstick under a strong light, and then decide which suits you best.

When you have found the right shades of rouge, powder, and lipstick, don't alter because a new shade looks well on someone else.

If possible, test powder and rouge on your skin before you buy it. The shade in the box may be quite different from the colour when applied to your skin.

Rub a little cold cream into your lips before putting on lipstick. The lipstick will then go on much more evenly, and the cream will save your lips from cracking.

Mascara should be used sparingly in the daytime. A little vaseline brushed on the lashes will make them look darker if you do not want to use mascara.

The most important commandment is: be sure you remove every trace of make-up before you go to bed. You will never regret the few minutes it takes; for cleanliness is the first step to beauty.

Round
the Town

Seen this Week in Local Shops

LANE, CRAWFORD, LTD.

Golf-shoes have just arrived at the LADIES' SALON and are so nice that they really deserve a full and detailed description. Comfort is the first essential of a sports shoe, and this is why they are often expensive. Not so at the Ladies' Salon for the shoes there are supremely comfortable, they are also extremely reasonable. A lovely shoe in SEAL-LEOPARD strapped with brown calf looks very sportsmanlike and durable. It has rubber heels and the new grip-soles and is only $35.50.

Even prettier is the MANFIELD shoe in soft and supple willow-calf, with open lacing. This also is rubber soled and heeled and costs only $29.50.

Another Manfield shoe comes in beige and brown and has the new cushion-heel (i.e. leather interspersed with rubber)—excellent for hikers since it saves fatigue in walking; this shoe is priced at $39.

A good golf-shoe for the economical girl is made of prettily tooled dark leather with criss-cross ankle-lacing. Very business-like at $44.75. Another shoe will certainly be popular with women who like to golf in light clothes, for it is made Norwegian-style in putty coloured leather, which looks exactly right with a light dress in this bright autumn weather.

MISS NAYLOR, IMPORTER OF DRESSSES.

I saw great variety in Miss Naylor's Salon this week. It has been so hot lately that there has been a rush for light dresses and Miss Naylor has had to get out some light-weight frocks to supply the demand. I saw a charming frock in apricot spun-silk with a little coat of brown cloth and a scarf which combined both colours. It was only $40 for the set.

Costs and skirts of pretty figured silk make a great appeal just now, but nearly all of those I described last week have been snapped up. Nail-studded dresses have often been described on our Fashion Page and Miss Naylor has just received a fascinating example of the novelty. It is in deep green crepe, and has graceful georgette sleeves studded with tiny golden "nails" most fascinating and unique.

WHITEWAYS.

There are lots of useful household goods on show in WHITEWAYS this week.

Most useful are the saucepans of English-made aluminium without alloy, which are procurable in every possible size and have wooden handles which don't get hot. To say that aluminium is not alloyed does not convey much to the ordinary mortal but it means a good deal to the good housewife, who knows that the saucepan will not darken and discolour with use, but will always look bright and shining in her kitchen. Strainers, cake tins, fish dishes, and fish sets complete with basket and pan can all be got in this useful ware.

There is a new upholstery tapestry too at Whiteways, called silk-cretonne very smooth and strong which is quite ideal for chair and chest-of-drawers covers, and the latest craze is for curtains to match so that the whole room is "en suite". This material is double width and in many pleasing colours.

DOLLY VARDON HAT SHOP.

Some most attractive bags are featured at Dolly Vardon's this week and prices are so moderate that I must give them special mention. First and foremost is a charming vanity-bag of coloured leather with most amazing beauty-fittings of cream-coloured celluloid. These include a mirror in which you can really see yourself properly, and separate compartments for lip-stick, powder, and rouge; and all arranged in such a way that they won't suddenly fall out at an awkward moment. Just when the boy-friend thinks we don't even know what rouge or lipstick mean, and this bag is only $14.50.

Bags in coloured fabric with dainty scarves to match are very smart this year and come in Tartan patterns at $12.50 the set. A bag in navy-blue pique with silvery fittings looks well for smart occasions and those in velvet and diamante are always right for night occasions.

Another novelty at Dolly Vardon's this week is the fabric glove with velvet gauntlet and these are sure to prove popular since they can be got in shades of fawn and brown at $4.50 the pair.

GORDON'S, LTD.

The first shipment of autumn shoes has just been unpacked at GORDON'S and I saw many a number of charming shoes. Fashion decrees that heels are to be slightly lower this Autumn but it is always advisable to have a fairly high heel for court-shoes. I saw some very smart examples of this style in nigger-brown calf and suede. Navy blue shoes with silk cord, or ribbon ties are very pretty indeed and black stitched calf is distinctive.

Gordon's wish it known that they stock the latest models in the English-made EXCELSIOR SHOE (made in Bristol).

Another feature at Gordon's is a new line in silk stockings in all the best shades and only $2.75 a pair. Your Rallies' Lingerie can also be got here and many lovely undies in peach and pink are on view.

THE FELIX HAT SHOP.

I saw some lovely hats at the Felix this week and felt like buying a dozen just to prevent the other women from getting them. Flattering little close-fitting hats in glossy velvet are just terribly becoming to fair girls. Little velvet banners—tams in black-and-white are very piquant, and the Cockcomb has (so much worn in Paris) proves to be even prettier than I anticipated.

Little hats with twisted brims are apt to have a bright feather at the side, while a circle ribbon on all dark hats adds a note of colour. These hats will soon be snapped up by the discriminating and I advise an early visit.

WHEN EXTREMES MEET

Extremes have been meeting regularly all through Summer, since the woman with a very large shady hat may find herself side-by-side with the woman in the smallest possible American Sailor!—yet both look equally smart.

The elegant woman with a willowy figure and clear skin looks her best in a shady straw allied to crisp frills of lace or organdie. The dark-eyed girl with a bright alert manner should choose the latter fashion with a tailored dress more severe in style. If it is made of black linen with white-check-sleeves, she will feel (and look) very "chic" in her pert little "Sailor."

Sinless Cocktails for the Bridge-Hostess

There is a new fashion from America. Perhaps if there had been no Prohibition we should never had it. As it is, it seems to have lasted just long enough to have produced one new habit which will be of as much use to the world as the original cocktail habit is said to have been harmful.

Lately in all the smarter bars of London there has been a new kind of cocktail, composed, not of fear-some alcoholic mixtures, but of such things as tomato juice and sweet peppers, passion fruit juice, pineapple juice, and other ingredients in various proportions. It says much for the deliciousness of the new mixtures that they have been able successfully to invade the stronghold of the more exhilarating variety, but they have done so, and look like staying.

Many private houses have also found them a welcome change, and they have another use, which the older sort of cocktail never had. They form an admirable substitute for the mid-morning milk in the nursery or schoolroom, one just as health-giving and far more likely to be popular.

All that is needed for their concoction is a few cans of the various juices and, if they are thought necessary, such things as sweet peppers and olives, cherries, etc., with which to render them still more attractive.

They are endless in variety, and they form a welcome change from the ordinary soup course in houses where cocktails are not ordinarily served, and are far less trouble to prepare.

COLLARS AND CUFFS

Ruffled cuffs and collars will be worn with all the autumn styles and sets of these pretty accessories can be bought ready-made, better still, they can be made at home by any girl who is clever with her needle. Organdie, a very easy material to manage, and glace-silk too can be made into pretty frills and bows.

VELVET EVERYWHERE

Sashes and bows of velvet will be employed on most afternoon and semi-evening gowns this Fall and the picture above shows how charmingly the colour of a pattern can be accented by a loose bow of similar shade, in soft velvet ribbon.

CLOTHES GOSSIP

Dresses that look like flower gardens, hats that look like beds of packed pansies or violets, shoulder straps as abundantly flowered as the lilies of the South Sea Islands, these are Hollywood's fashion motifs. Flowers, flowers, everywhere! On skirts, on bodices, on hats large or small. Handbags made of artificial violets, summer muffs made of artificial flowers, even a corner of Milady's handkerchief decorated with a small flat cluster of millinery flowers.

Beauty Hints

DONE IN A MINUTE!

If you have naturally heavy eyebrows, you can make them smooth and gleaming simply by brushing them with an eyebrow brush that has been rubbed on a dry, or nearly dry cake of soap.

Liquid rouge used on your lips as well as your cheeks will give a very natural effect. Also, it is very lasting, and ensures that lips and cheeks are the same colour. Apply it on a piece of cotton wool wrapped around an orange stick. Allow it to dry thoroughly before you eat your next meal.

When you wear one-sided hats don't expect your hair to look smooth and well-groomed without the aid of brillantine. Just a little rubbed on the brush will keep the ends of the hair tidy.

Nails that are soiled and unkempt quickly spoil the impression of good grooming every business girl should strive to give. It is a good plan to keep a bottle of nail bleach handy, and equal parts of peroxide and ammonia are excellent for this purpose.

Wipe a piece of cotton wool round an orange stick, dip it in the bleach and run it gently under the nail tip. Your nails will then look beautifully clean and well-cared for.

Notorious Japanese
Agitator

Tokyo, Sept. 13
The long-wanted Communist Yoshiko (23), the daughter of Dr.
Hajime Kawakami, was arrested by the police on Sunday night (10th instant) while looking at picture signboards in front of a movie-theatre in Omachi.
Her close friend Reiko Inoue, a daughter of the late Mr. Mitsu Inoue, ex-mayor of Kyoto, was also arrested on the following day.
At the ensuing inquiry Yoshiko confessed that she had evaded the police notice by being engaged as a sales girl with a gasoline stand in Nihonbashi, while Reiko has worked as a conductress of the Shinjuku Bus Company. The both pleaded guilty to continuing their subversive activity even since they made a fight with Yoshiko's uncle, Yusho Otsuka, a year ago, with over
Y.30,000 received from the Omori
Kawasaki Bank raiders, it is understood. (The phrase "it is understood"—our translation being from the Japanese press—is sufficient indication that imagination plays no small part in this narrative).
When her uncle was arrested in a sumo of Tokyo in January, Yoshiko alone escaped arrest by running away with Y.300 in cash and two revolvers.

GILMORE FOUND GUILTY
Six Months Sentence In
Shanghai Case

September 13.—In H. M. Police Court yesterday Hugh Gilmore, who on Tuesday was found guilty on two charges and had pleaded guilty to one charge of obtaining money by false pretences, named four additional cases of obtaining money by false pretences, which he wished the Registrar, Mr. C. H.
Haines, to take into consideration before ultimately passing sentence on him. In view of these extra admissions the Registrar, changed the sentence against the accused, from three months' imprisonment to six months' imprisonment.
When the hearing was resumed yesterday Gilmore, after the Registrar had asked him if he wished to have any other cases taken into consideration, replied that he would like the two cases, which had been brought out by the witnesses for the Crown, Mr. Langley and Mr.
Calhoun from both of whom he had obtained the sum of $10 by telling them the tale of the indigent American, to be taken into consideration.
He also admitted that he had obtained the sum of $23 from a certain Mr. Schumacher. The last case was one of trying to obtain money in the same manner from Mr. Gardiner Crane. The accused said that he had obtained no money, however.

RISE IN PRICES IN MANILA

Copra And Sugar.

Manila, Sept. 14. Rising prices characterized the Philippine market for farm products, especially copra, sugar and abaca, during the first six months of this year as compared with the same period for last year, a survey completed by the finance and tariff section of the bureau of commerce indicates.

In July centrifugal sugar registered transactions at prices ranging from P8.40 to P8.50 considered a fairly good level, while some sales of the new crop were closed at prices ranging from P8.25 to P8.30 for delivery up to early in November.

Copra, reseeded quality, went up to P6.50 per 100 kilos. This is higher than the price obtained in the early part of the year. Abaca likewise touched new price levels, being P0.25 for J-1 as against P0 for January 1 of this year. Of P6.75 to P6 on July 20, 1932. Of the native staples, only tobacco remained dull last July. This is attributed to the absence of any good-sized demand from European markets.

THE STORY OF
TEMPLE DRAKENow At Queen's
Theatre

As the last of the "wild" Drakes, Miriam Hopkins gives a superb characterization in the title role of Paramount's "The Story of Temple Drake," which is now at Queen's Theatre. The picture based on a William Faulkner novel, features an excellent cast including Jack LaRue, William Gargan, William Collier, Jr., Irving Pichel and Sir Guy Standing.

In one of the screen's most difficult roles, Miss Hopkins portrays with perfect understanding the complexities of a most spirited character. Temple Drake is a strange composite of good and evil forces, a curious mixture of conventional attributes and uncontrollable desires, and Miss Hopkins gives a sympathetic interpretation of the character. Jack LaRue is menacing as the ruthless "Trigger," while William Gargan portrays Stephen Benbow, the young attorney in love with Temple Drake.

The story revolves about the unrestrained acts of the girl—who possesses an inherited streak of wildness. Refusing to marry the man she loves that she may not ruin his life, she runs off with a member of the gay younger set for a light-hearted lark which ends in a crash in front of a moonshiner's hang-out. There Temple Drake, who has been thoughtlessly flirting with boys her own age, meets Trigger, who kills a man; who tries to protect her, and who takes her off with him to the city, hiding her. What happens when Benbow seeks her out, and her atonement for the unhappiness she has brought to others, makes a thrilling climax.

"The Story of the Temple Drake" is one of the finest pictures of the year, directed by Stephen Roberts who was responsible, you will remember, for the eminently successful "The Night of June 13." It is another in the long line of Miriam Hopkins' successes—which are rapidly bringing to her a well-earned reputation as one of the screen's most capable performers.

Canton, Sept. 21.—The Canton Financial Department has announced its decision to grant a concession to the rice merchants by reducing the rice tax from $1.00 per picul to sixty cents. This reduced rate is to be effective immediately. The Special Taxation Bureau for imported agricultural products has been functioning in Canton, while the native staples, only tobacco remained dull last July. This is attributed to the absence of any good-sized demand from European markets.

"KING KONG"

Coming To Central
Theatre

Kong, immense prehistoric ape who is the menace in the fantastic RKO-Radio Picture, "King Kong," featuring Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong, Bruce Cabot at The Central Theatre soon, is one of the most terrifying villains that ever made a cameraman shudder. Certainly he is the largest.

He is fifty feet tall. His tread shakes the earth, and his hands are capable of crushing an airplane to matchwood. His strength had flourished since the time man was born and Hollywood was a grazing ground for the bron-tosaur and the hyppocamp. He ruled, by the right of might, the lost island that had been left behind in the windy track of the centuries.

But the thing that bewildered Kong, king of his realm, was the never-before experienced emotion of tenderness that thrilled in his savage breast when he saw Beauty for the first time in the form of a woman. It led him into battle with prehistoric monsters for her—and it led him to his doom when he tried to lay New York low—to wipe out this, to him weird thing called civilization.

Be sure to see "King Kong" due to Central Theatre very soon.

who gets to see them all is a short unobtrusive man who acts as fire inspector for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. "I first met Gable when I had to make him stop smoking a cigarette on what we call a 'hazard set,' related the fireman. 'I expected him to get sore at me for stopping him in the midst of a smoke, but he thanked me instead and we had quite a talk on fire prevention at the studio.'

AN EXPERT ON DOGS.

Between scenes Gable usually reads his dialogue for the coming action or in warm weather strolls in the open air. The doorman on the stage happened to be interested in Irish setter dogs like "Queen," the star's pet and hunting companion, and he looks forward eagerly for a chance to chat with Gable. "I believe he knows more about Irish setters than I do, and I've raised them for a long time," said the doorman. "He must study that animal awfully close to learn so much about his habits. A fellow who knows his dog is all right with me."

A "grip" or general utility man on the set summed things up in one of their huddles: "Gable's an actor in front of the camera and he acts like a human being when he's not. And he never forgets that he's just workin' here like the rest of us."

THE WHITE
SISTERWith Clark Gable And Helen Hayes

The acid test has been applied to Clark Gable! That insidious and slow-burning chemical known as "sound opinion," which has started the first rumblings of adverse comment on many stars in the Hollywood film colony swirls past Gable like so much water around a duck. The group of production experts who work on the sets continually are intent observers of the players in action and if anything goes wrong they see reactions under cold stage light without the rosy coloring that surrounds stars in their public appearances. But Gable never fails them.

High up near the rafters during the filming of "The White Sister," the picture which comes on Sunday to the Queen's Theatre with Helen Hayes and Clark Gable in the co-starring roles, sat a "juicer" who has the longest range bird's-eye view of people on the set. "I've never seen Gable rough anybody in a company yet except as part of a scene," commented this juicer except. "Anyway, a guy with the patience he has in learning golf would have a hard time getting up in the air over any talk troubles. I'm helpin' him with 'chip shots' between scenes and I'll bet he'll be a good golfer yet."

Another worker on the stages (Continued on previous column).

"CAVALCADE"

See It To-Day At The King's

"Cavalcade" is a picture you cannot afford to miss, showing today at the King's Theatre where an enthusiastic audience applauded the Fox Film production to the echo.

Noel Coward chose a daring theme and the daring of the producer was even greater in presenting it. That such daring was amply justified, however, was proved by the enthusiasm of those who saw it. The picture "Cavalcade" is one of the greatest ever to come to the screen.

The cast, headed by Diana Wynyard and Olive Brook, is magnificent, Miss Wynyard especially contributing an excellent performance in her role as Jane Marryot.

Herbert Mundin, Una O'Connor, Ursula Jeans, Frank Lawton, Beryl Tenham, John Browne, Merle Tottenham, John Warburton, Margaret Lindsay are perfectly cast in colourful roles.

Frank Lloyd's direction is magnificent and the photography by Ernest Palmer leaves nothing to be desired.

We nominate "Cavalcade" as the best of the "best pictures of the year," for many years past and many to come.

WHAT IS GLAMOUR?

BY WILLIAM PENNY

Can glamour be manufactured? Karen Morley, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress, discusses this question from the standpoint of her own experiences.

Talking picture patrons know Miss Morley to have a distinctive glamour. But they may not be aware of the fact that it has been deliberately acquired.

Slender, almost to fragility, blonde, but not daintily so, sophisticated, yet not effete, Miss Morley is able to walk into a scene peopled with distinguished players, and yet make her personality stand out in clear relief. She first did it in a small part with Greta Garbo and Robert Montgomery, in "Inspiration." She has repeated it in every picture in which she has appeared.

To realise how unassuming Miss Morley is off the screen is to understand how deliberately conceived is the striking presence she exhibits on the screen. In other words she manufactures her glamour.

She believes it possible for other girls to do like-wise. It is just a matter of intelligence. Miss Morley defines glamour as "the distinctiveness of individuality." But mere individuality is not enough.

It was distinctiveness which led a film director to single out Greta Gustafsson in a Swedish newswreel, thus proving that Miss Garbo's glamour is inherent. So, too, is Marie Dressler's. Lionel Barrymore has inherited, from generations of celebrated actors, the glamour which surrounds him.

Karen Morley was not similarly endowed.

Whilst at a Hollywood high school, she saw the stars both on the screen and in person, and studied them. What was it that set them apart—Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer, Marion Davies, Joan Crawford? They were her models. She examined their personalities, analysed their qualities, compared them. No two were alike, yet all had had attributes in common.

"You must develop your individuality," the aspirant told herself. "Find out your distinctive qualities, then work hard to bring them out."

"There are four vital things that go to make up what I consider glamour," she said. "They are voice, appearance, poise, and grace. I believe that any girl who uses her intelligence can acquire these things in degree."

"THE BLARNEY STONE"Tom Walls In An Irish Comedy

"The Blarney Stone" differs from the type of film with which the cinema public have learned to associate Tom Walls. It is full of dry, whimsical humour, but there is also drama, and a piquancy that make tears the twin sister of laughter. Throughout the film Tom Walls assumes the irresistible allure of a rich Irish brogue in the character of Tim Fitzgerald, and it is towards the success of the film.

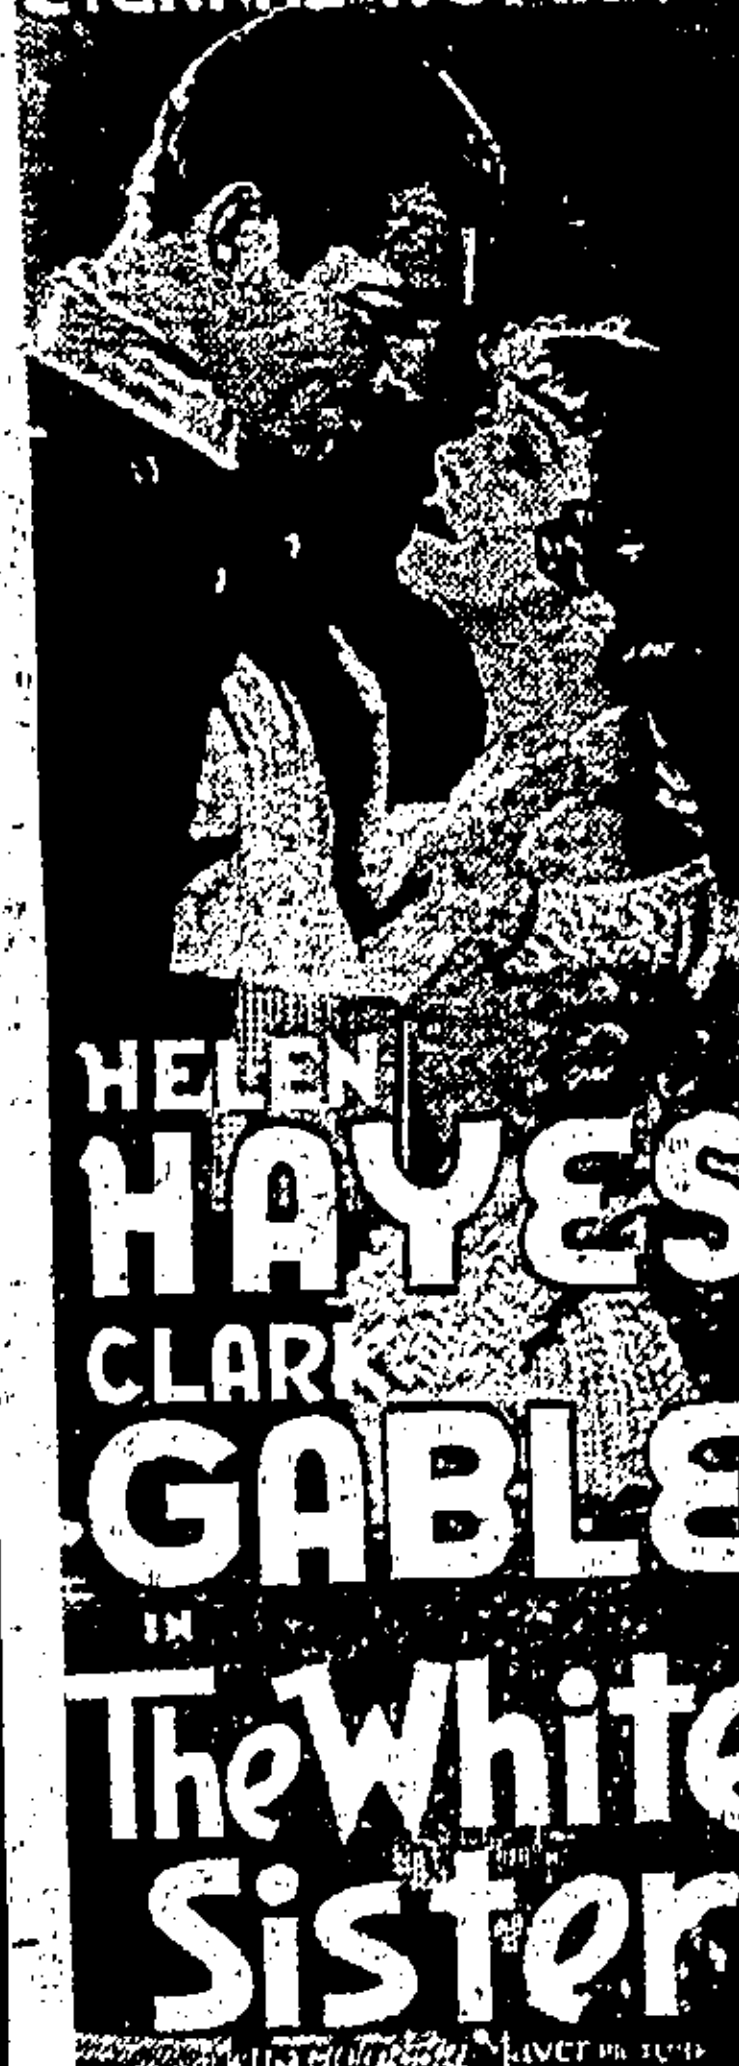

"The Blarney Stone" which will open at the Central Theatre on Sunday with Tom Walls, Anne Grey, Robert Douglas, George Barrett, Halde Wright, Charles Carson, and many others.

ECHOES OF 1859

3.—"Fun" At the Legislative Council

January 5, 1859.

The Council met pursuant to notice. All the members were present except the Governor who was absent, and the Chief Justice who was sick. The Lieut. Governor presided.

The Chief Magistrate moved that all the correspondence with the Home Government relative to the Opium Monopoly should be laid upon the table—not only the dispatches regarding the Monopoly itself, but the correspondence relative to the Committee which had sat to consider the conduct of Dr. Bridges in that transaction—the dispatch transmitting the report of that committee to the Secretary of State, and the reply of Sir Bulwer Lytton thereunto. The Lieutenant Governor refused to produce these papers point blank, not only declining to give any reason for such refusal, but further declining to sanction any discussion upon the subject. The Chief Magistrate then requested that in accordance with the seventh rule of the standing orders, his written minute of the motion, and of the Lieutenant Governor's refusal be recorded in writing upon the proceedings of the Council, which after some hesitation was agreed to because it could not be refused.

The Bowring Praya Ordinance was then laid upon the table for the first reading. The Acting Attorney General stated that he had framed this Ordinance in such a manner as to modify the arbitrary power which the wording of the leases gave the Government, and he had endeavoured to meet the various complicated questions, which a work of the kind must inevitably give rise to. Mr. Dent protested even against the Ordinance being entertained for one moment, but all the other honourable members voted for it being laid upon the table, several remarking as they voted (among whom was the Colonial Secretary) that they expressed no approval of the Ordinance but merely agreed to its being discussed as usual on the second reading. The Chief Magistrate asked if official members were expected to support the Government in this matter, because unless he could give a conscientious unfettered vote he should resign his seat in the Council. The Lieut. Governor declined to answer the question. Mr. Dent begged that the plans and estimates might be laid upon the table in accordance with the Governor's promise. The Surveyor General said they were all ready and the Lieut. Governor agreed that honourable members should be furnished by the Surveyor General with all possible information. Mr. Jardine said that each member should have the estimates in writing and that also was agreed to. The Ordinance was ordered to be printed three times in the Gazette and to come on for the second reading on the 4th proximo.

The remainder of the proceedings were of no interest to the general reader. They referred to defects in ordinance pointed out by the Secretary of State upon the same being submitted to him for confirmation. The defects were remedied by Ordinances amending the original Ordinances or cancelling the objectionable clauses. Thus the right of deportation was limited to the native place of the Chinese deported, instead of to any part of the Emperor of China's dominions. Another referred to the severity of the present ordinances upon Chinese escaping from jail. These will of course appear in the Gazette.

F.M.S. MISSIONARY TEACHERS

Drastic Salary Cuts To Operate In January

SINGAPORE, Sept. 16.

Drastic cuts in the salaries of missionary teachers in the aided schools of the Colony and where the F.M.S. are suggested by the Education Department, and will probably come into force in January next year. The revision is in pursuance of the policy recommended by the committee appointed last year by Sir Cecil Clementi, Governor and High Commissioner, to consider the system of grants-in-aid to schools.

The question of grants-in-aid was debated shortly in the Legislative Council at last year's Budget meeting, and on that occasion Dr. Noel Clarke, himself a prominent educationist, said, in commenting on the expenditure proposed by the education department, "the grants in aid should be carefully scrutinised and such posts as Supervisors in aided schools should be considered as to whether they are to be retained or not. The salaries scheme for Missionary teachers should be reconsidered and revised and it would be more satisfactory to consider separately the salaries of such teachers in each individual school than to adopt a flat rate for all Missionary teachers."

In the scheme they are putting forward, the Education Department have not proposed to abolish any of the posts, and the suggestion of dealing with each case on its merits has been waived, a flat rate having been adopted.

Present Scale.

Under the present system, where 25 per cent. of the missionary staff of aided schools consists of Europeans and of Asiatics who have received training in Europe and where 50 per cent. of the total staff consists of lay teachers, all male missionaries, both European and Asiatic, received $300 a month.

Where these proportions are not observed, European missionary teachers received $300 a month and Asiatics $200.

It is understood that under the proposed new scale, where the European missionary and European lay teachers combined do not exceed 25 per cent. of the total authorised staff, European missionary teachers will be paid $250 a month, and all others at the rate of $120 a month.

In boys' schools the total number of missionary teachers must not exceed 50 per cent. of the total authorised staff.

Woman missionary teachers at present received $200 a month. Under the new system their salaries will also be revised. Where the European missionary and European lay teachers combined do not exceed 25 per cent. of the total authorised staff, European missionary teachers will be paid $150 a month and all others at the rate of $100 a month.

In the case of Christian Brother's schools and Convent schools, however, there is to be no distinction in the salaries to be received by Europeans and Asiatics. All male missionary teachers will receive $175 a month and female teachers $125 a month.

Lay teachers are to be paid according to the scales laid down by Government.

A SMALL-SCALE AIRWAY

Quick Travel From London To The Isle Of Wight

An example of the way in which small-scale as well as big air ventures are developing in England is the new service between London and the Isle of Wight ninety passengers a week are travelling between London and Cowes, on the new route operated by Spartan Air Lines. The number is modest, compared with those who travel to and fro by boat and train, but it satisfies the immediate expectations of the organizers and indicates that there is scope for the operation of airways even in a country like Great Britain, with its dense network of rail and road transport services.

Since the route was opened on May 12 no service has been abandoned. Every machine has departed and arrived to scheduled time. Neither aeroplanes nor engines have given the slightest trouble. Apparently, the comfort and steadiness in flight of the three-engined Spartan "Crusier" monoplane which assure the service have converted many diffident folk to air travel. In the few weeks of its existence the company has received numerous expressions of appreciation from people who had not previously flown.

By boat and train the journey (Continued on next column).

NEW YORK'S WAR ON CRIME

4 Leading Racketeers Gaoled

New York, Aug. 21.—Four gangsters and racketeers, one the laundry " czar" of Brooklyn are in jail with plenty of time to revise their views on the ease of evading justice and the profitable nature of crime and violence as a business. They will go before County Judge Alton G. McLaughlin to be sentenced on Sept. 2.

One by one they walked up to the bar to make the plea of "guilty" which scored for Mr. William W. Kleinman, Assistant District Attorney, the prosecutor, an unqualified victory, for a plea of guilty amounts to a conviction. At the same time it sent ringing across the country, wherever newspapers are read, a note of hope on the outlook in the campaign against the racketeer.

Jacob Mellon, whose reign of terrorism in the Brooklyn laundry trade was described in hundreds of pages of testimony, Morris Rothensberg, whose tactics in destroying competitors' businesses made a grim chapter in the evidence, Edward Lollo, who has a prior conviction for extortion, and Samuel Solomon, named in a second indictment with Mellon, were the men who entered the plea which ended the trial abruptly on its tenth day.

Mellon, laundry czar, Lollo and Rothensberg, president and a director, respectively, of the Affiliated Laundry Owners' Club of Brooklyn, an organization which Mellon formed, were indicted on a charge of conspiracy in operating a laundry racket. Since a conspiracy is termed a "misdemeanor" in the penal code, the maximum flat sentence the judge may impose on each of them is one year in prison and $500 fine. An alternative sentence that may be imposed is an indeterminate penitentiary sentence that may run from six months to three years, at the discretion of the Parole Board.

Watching their case topple before the driving onslaughts of the State's evidence almost from the day the trial started on Aug. 7, the racketeers countered through their attorneys two days later with an offer to plead guilty in return for "consideration." But Mr. Kleinman, who had rounded up his evidence under a barrage of intimidation and threats aimed at his witnesses, and Judge McLaughlin, who refused to have justice sabotaged, would make no deal with them. Judge McLaughlin ordered the prisoners remanded to jail while the trial continued and locked up the jury to protect them from untoward influences. This policy of fearless and determined prosecution of crime was continued throughout the trial.

THEFT OF MOTOR TOOLS

A quantity of motor car tools stolen from No. 74 Johnstone Road led to the appearance before Mr. Schofield yesterday of two Chinese who pleaded guilty to the theft. The first man was fined $75 and $50, or in default, six weeks and a month's hard labour respectively, while the second defendant was sentenced to two months' hard labour without option.

DR. W. H. BRODIE

Now Municipal Health Officer,
Penang

PENANG, Sept. 14.
It is officially announced that Dr. W. H. Brodie has been appointed Municipal Health Officer, Penang, on the retirement of Dr. Glase. The Commissioners have decided to appoint another officer to take Dr. Brodie's place.

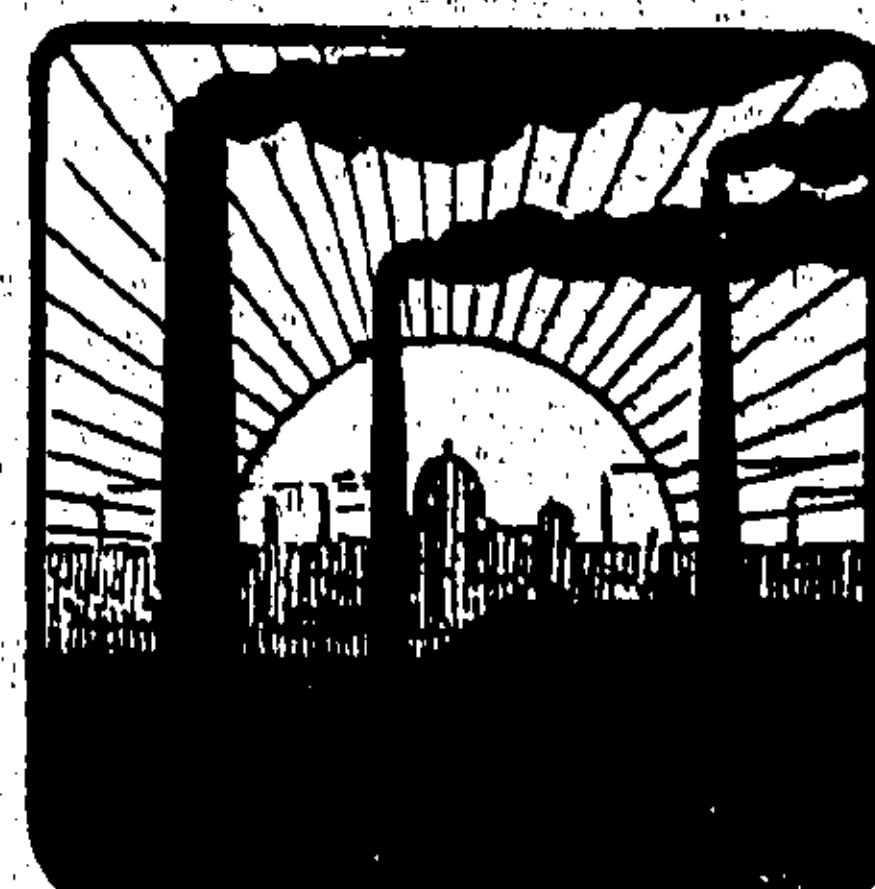

(Continued from preceding Col.) from London to the island is awkward, irritating and slow. The strip of water which separates the island from the mainland means transferring at Portsmouth or Southampton to a ferry boat, which takes up to an hour for the crossing. The fastest train and boat service consumes 2½ hours; the aeroplanes reach the island in a hundred minutes, including the forty-five minutes run by motor-coach from the airways terminus at Victoria to Heston airport.

On the power of three 120 h.p. "Gipsy III" motors a "Crusier" craft transports six passengers and their luggage in comfort at normal cruising speed of 118 m.p.h. Each passenger has control of a ventilator and conversation is possible without raising the voice, thanks to the sturdy construction of the fuselage, which is a rigid metal shell, and the smooth running of the motors.

Spartan Air Lines also engages in special charter flying. In the past few weeks many thousands of miles have been flown by "Crusier" monoplanes specially hired for journeys to Cannes, Le Touquet, Ostend, Geneva and other towns on the continent of Europe. There is no better way of quick and untroubled business or holiday travel.

CHINA'S COMMUNICATIONS

PRESSING ON WITH THE HIGHWAY SYSTEM

General Chiang Kai Shek's Instructions

An urgent wire has been received at Nanking from General Chiang Kai Shek. The telegram contained instructions for the highway engineers and experts of the National Economic Council to proceed at once to Kiangsu in order to complete several of the trunk roads and highways, on which work has been going on for months. It is understood that the completion of this highway will help the successful termination of the bandit-suppression campaign. Highway experts of the League of Nations have already started for Kiangsu, it is reported, and it is understood that tools, machinery, and light railway tracks and trucks in large numbers are being transported to different points.

The government have for the past two years been paying much attention to road building, especially in connection with bandit suppression work, in which rapid and efficient transportation plays an important part. It may be recalled that General Chiang Kai Shek and the Minister of Finance, Mr. T. V. Soong, devoted much time to the programme of road building, and it was only recently in Nanking that a special road conference with delegates from the seven central provinces of China was convened. The National Economic Council has been entrusted with the work of supervising the carrying out of the programme which calls for the completion of 20,000 kilometres of highways involving a total expenditure of over $100,000,000. Work on some of these highways has already been going on for months, and it is expected that the next year will see the completion of the network of roads. The government, even though labouring under the difficult conditions arising out of the national crisis, nevertheless puts great importance on progress in road-building in that it will revolutionize transportation in China and facilitate the movements of troops, and above all open up the interior so that important commercial centres will be connected. The network of roads will bring untold economic benefit to the people.

LOANS TO PROVINCES.

Mr. T. V. Soong, realising that the provincial governments' treasuries are short in funds, has been making loans to them so that the different provincial reconstruction departments have been able to carry out their road-building work. In making these loans to the provincial governments, the question of relative importance of the roads and their immediate necessity have been taken into consideration. 1932 saw the completion and partial completion of the following highways: Shanghai-Hangchow, Hangchow-Anhui, Soochow-Kashing, Changshing-Hsienhua and Nanking-Wuhu, etc.

General Chiang Kai Shek summoned a meeting, it may be recalled, in Hankow last autumn. The conference, besides producing the good effect of bringing together engineers and experts from different provinces and joining them in a united effort, also adopted a concrete and practical programme, the first stage of which calls for the completion of 1,800 kilometres of roads. These 1,800 kilometres of roads are to be distributed as follows:

In Honan province: Changlo-jenfu-Hwangchuan, Shoumushu-Shiakaling, Tangpan-Hsientien, Kwangshan Kyngfu etc.

In Hupeh province: Siakaling-Wusha, Shungung-Taiwei, Lohdien-Yingshan, Dienkalehen-Taiwei etc.

In Anhwei province: Ningkou-Onghsen, Onghsen-Yulingkwan, Fongmitang-Loongki, Loongki-Shilip, Hsienchen-Kaipai, Yingshan-Tailhu etc.

In Kiangsu province: Nanking-Foonlungtung.

In Chekiang province: Hsienhua-Yulingkwan, Szan-Kaipai, etc.

In Kiangsi province: Ylukiang-Kwongtung.

THE SECOND STAGE.

The above roads will be finished in the very near future. The second stage of the programme calls for 6,000 kilometres of roads, and the time limit for the completion of these is December, 1933. In the early part of February there was a conference of the highway experts and engineers of the seven central provinces, and it may be recalled that this conference went into detailed discussion of all the problems in connection with the construction of these 6,000 kilometres. Since these roads run through the capitals and important commercial centres and bandit-ridden regions, General Chiang Kai Shek has already ordered some of his soldiers to help in the construction of the following roads:

In Honan province: Yikalgh-Changlojenfu, Hwangchuan-Hsienyang, Siangcheng-Hwangchuan, Hovan-Lingju, Yungcheng-Shungku etc.

In Hupeh province: Saryang-Ichong, Lachokou-Mengkallou, etc.

In Anhwei province: From Wukiang via Holsien, Hanshan, Huifu, Litan, to Yikalgh, Hufel-Anching etc.

In Kiangsi province: Lingchuen-Yungfong, Kyngtehchen-Huangkyngfou, Klan-Tuling, Shangkao-Liuyang, etc.

In Kiangsu province: Chinkiang-Shanghai, Jukou - Chianpao, Pukow-Wukiang, Shouhsien-Meyang and Talerehwang etc.

In Chekiang province: Tsaongchenhsien, Hsingschow-Linghai, Fuyang-Kiangshan, Kianghua-Yunkong etc.

In Honan province: Liuyan-Vantai, Liuyang-Yagan, Jahgh-Yungshing, Tihalen - Changteh, Taohuapung-Weldong etc.

The work on these roads has already been started by the various provincial reconstruction departments under the direction and co-ordination of the National Economic Council. Thus Nanking, the capital, will be connected with the seven provinces by highways and communication will be rendered easier. Besides deciding upon the routes, the committee also decided upon the names of the roads and work on the milestones posts and road signs has already started. Rules and regulations governing traffic have been adopted. The committee has gone into and made practical provisions for long distance bus services, the training of highway experts, repair work and stations for the testing of road materials, and fuel consumption of motor vehicles. In general the trend is towards a unified system of highway administration.

SOVIET EMBARGO HITS BRITISH TRADE

Purchases Cut By More Than Half

London, Sept. 12. According to figures obtained from the U.S.S.R., states the monthly review of the Moscow Narodny Bank, Ltd., London, Soviet orders and purchases in Britain amounted during the first half of the current year to $1,594,493 as compared with $4,681,675 during the corresponding period of 1932. The purchase of ferrous and non-ferrous metals amounted to $701,533 and formed the largest item. Tea, which totalled $244,021, occupied second place, and 62,116 coppers bought to the value of $178,861 occupied third place. Rubber accounted for $170,715, while machinery, machine tools, pumps and compressors, and electrical appliances amounted to $138,389. The balance of $899,877 was made up of chemicals, consumption goods and various raw materials.

Fall In Charities.

Goods shipped to the U.S.S.R. amounted during the first six months to $3,399,042. This sum includes goods purchased in Britain in 1932 and shipped this year, either from Britain or direct from other parts of the British Empire.

The number of British steamers chartered by Soviet organizations from January 1 to June 30, 1933 was twenty-six, and the sum involved was $130,320. During the corresponding period in 1932 a total of 40 British steamers was chartered and the sum paid was $217,648.

There decreases in trading and chartering operations, states the bank review, were entirely due to the cancellation of the Anglo-Soviet commercial agreement and the imposition of an embargo on Soviet imports. —Tass.

INDEPENDENCE OF PHILIPPINES

Present U.S. Proposals Attacked

FULL SOVEREIGNTY WANTED

Manila, Sept. 18.

The Philippine Veterans' Association shortly after noon yesterday approved a declaration against the Hare-Hawes-Cutting Act after a tumultuous session of its delegates at the Olympic Stadium from 9 a.m. to 1.30 p.m. A crowd of about 5,000 people witnessed the convention.

General Emilio Aguinaldo, president of the association, presided over the convention. He made a brief speech in favour of the document adopted.

He said the Hare-Hawes-Cutting Act did not in any way satisfy the longings and ideals of the Filipino people for immediate, absolute and complete independence. He explained that as the Filipino veterans at one time fought for the realization of those ideals, it was necessary that a declaration should be made by them on the new law.

Against Policy.

He likewise brought out that the Hare-Hawes-Cutting Act was not only against America's vouchsafed altruistic policy toward the Philippines and the Filipinos but it enforced, it would put the islanders at a great political and economic disadvantage.

Objections Made.

In a memorial submitted by the Association exception was taken to the Hare-Hawes-Cutting Act on the ground that if its economic conditions were carried out, they would result in destruction of the Philippine economic system. The memorial expressed the fear that the causes of such destruction might be attributed to Filipino incapacity rather than to anything else. The holding of military and naval bases by the United States in the Philippines was likewise objected to because it would impair Filipino sovereignty.

Among other things the memorial suggested that if the United States must have some naval bases in the Philippines in the interests of its Far Eastern policy, such bases should be established in isolated points so that they may not become a serious restriction to the sovereignty of the islands. The neutrality of the islands was also recommended before America's withdrawal from the country.

Ask Reciprocity.

It was likewise suggested that should Philippine products be restricted in their entry to the United States, the Philippine government should be allowed to restrict proportionately the value of American products entering the islands. In conclusion, it set forth "the general sense among the Filipinos that during the period of transition, the Philippine government should enjoy a substantial political autonomy to be gradually increased as the expiration of the transition period approaches."

The memorial was duly adopted.

THE GREAT EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN

A Reminder Of The Tenth Anniversary.

A Japanese newspaper, "The Yokohama Boyzei Shimpo" has brought out a special number, partly in English in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the great earthquake. Tributes are paid to the help rendered by foreign countries, notably America, England, France and China. We give the last in full.

Our neighbouring country sent telegrams of condolence and immediately remitted export taxes of provisions, clothes and medicines for Japan and at the same time cancelled the Corn Law. Relief parties were at once dispatched to Japan, and there was a donation of two thousand piculs of rice. Contributions were made by noted persons such as Messrs. Hsu Shih Chiang, premier, ten thousand yuan in cash, Tso Kuo Wang Chang Yin, Tuan Chi Jui, Tiao Ju Lin twenty thousand yuan, each, while General Chang Tso Lin then at Kink donated twenty thousand bags of military use flour and one hundred head of cattle. The relief movement was also simultaneous.

Started in Hankin, Shanghai and all other cities and a large amount of money in contributions and commodities was collected. Related as we are by culture and race, the sympathy of China touched us deeply.

C.E.R. PURCHASE

Speculations As To The Russian Attitude

Tokyo, Sept. 13.—No progress whatever is being made in the Soviet-Manchoukuo negotiations in Tokyo for the sale of the Chinese Eastern Railway and they are now virtually at a standstill owing to the hardening of the Russian attitude, the Asahi says.

The Foreign Office attributes the hardening of the Russian attitude to her misconception of the present international standings of herself and Japan. Soviet Russia, elated over the conclusion of nonaggression treaties with seven of her neighbouring countries, is overrating her capacity to muster larger forces than before in the Far East.

On the other hand, she underestimates Japan's capacity to give attention to the Far Eastern problems, because, as Soviet Russia thinks, Japan's position is very critical both in her domestic and in her international relations. From this point of view, that country seems to be under the impression that the longer the present parleys are delayed, the more favourable international position she can secure vis-à-vis Japan. Soviet Russia at the same time deliberately refrains from the attitude of breaking off the present negotiations, as in that event Manchoukuo may proceed to take over the Railway by actual force.

So long as Soviet Russia is at her tactics of delaying the parleys from her mistaken estimate of the relative international position of Russia and Japan, the Foreign Office sees the futility of offering any mediatory services between Russia and Manchoukuo in the present pourparlers, and prefers to watch developments quietly.

MINE LAYER COMING OUT

H.M.S. ADVENTURE FOR CHINA SQUADRON.

H.M.S. Adventure, the minelayer, is to join the China Fleet and will arrive here in February next.

The Adventure was laid down under the 1922-23 Estimates at the Devonport Yard on November 29, 1922, completed in 1926 and commissioned in May the following year. The vessel was designed by Sir E. H. Tennyson d'Eyncourt as an experimental type, combining characteristics of a minelayer with those of a light cruiser. The hull is flush-decked, with a marked sheer forward, and the stern flat, without a counter, a new departure for the minelayer. There are four large mine-dropping ports in it. Weight has been saved by the sacrifice of armament and ammunition supply, thus giving increased capacity for mines of a new and enlarged pattern.

SWATOW NEWS LETTER

(From a Correspondent)

Swatow, Sept. 18.

Due to the unsettled weather of the past week much of the shipping from the South has been thrown off schedule, but is now getting back to normal. Two of the port's most popular bachelors had an eventful trip from Toksu last Monday. The week-end had been pretty boisterous and the river was still bad when they set out in a speed boat. Trouble developed about halfway and thanks to the nearness of another launch, the two escaped with nothing worse than a very severe soaking.

Swatow appears to be suffering from water shortage much in the same way as Hong Kong, and residents have great difficulty in getting water on the second floors of their homes. We had a heavy rain one day last week, but not sufficient to do much good.

We hear that the principal reason for the recent order requiring ricksha coolies to wear a distinctive hat, is that arms have been smuggled about in rickshas. Owing to the unsettled conditions this is a very serious offence.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Honce will pass through Swatow in the next day or two and we are sure their friends will be glad to see them again.

Mr. Honce was for many years in charge of the B. and S. office here and his recent retirement, which of course meant the family leaving too, leaves a gap in Swatow life. We understand that he will settle in Hong Kong, and so Swatow friends will still have opportunities of continuing a pleasant friendship.

Mr. H. Azor and Mrs. Jabaren and her children left for an indefinite visit to Shanghai last Thursday.

M.M. SERVICE IMPROVEMENTS

Increase Speed: Japanese Service Resumed

The Messageries Maritimes announce that the fortnightly service to Japan formerly maintained by the vessels of their China Mail line—temporarily suspended since last year—will be resumed with the next departure of the m.v. Felix Roussel for Kobe on the 1st December, 1933.

The service of these vessels will be improved by an increase of speed coupled with a shorter stay at certain ports of call. The length of the voyage from Hong Kong to Marseilles will thus be greatly reduced.

SIMLA COUNCIL REJECTS ADEN SEPARATION

Rs. 2,000,000 Towards Military And Civil Administration

Simla, August 31. The Council of State met today. There was a large attendance, the galleries being crowded.

The chief business was a discussion on the future of Aden. Sir Fazl Hussain initiated a debate on the question of Aden. He said that the attitude of the Government was one of silent listeners. They would not participate in the debate, nor vote on the motion.

The Government of India was now spending Rs. 2,000,000 a year towards the military and civil administration of Aden.

One condition of separation was that His Majesty's Government should contribute to this fund.

Sir Phiroze Sethna moved a substitute resolution that, whilst there was no longer any objection to the transfer to the Imperial control of the political and military administration of Aden, as it exists at present, the Council was definitely of the opinion that its civil administration should be continued with the Government of India, or, if thought necessary, should be transferred to the Bombay Government, but that such civil administration should not be transferred to the Colonial Office.

His main contention was that Indians were the first settlers there, and had sunk money, resource and energy more than anybody else.

be collected by the Colonial Office if they transferred it. Aden to India was like Gibraltar to England. It was the seat of India's potential trade in the Middle East and Africa.

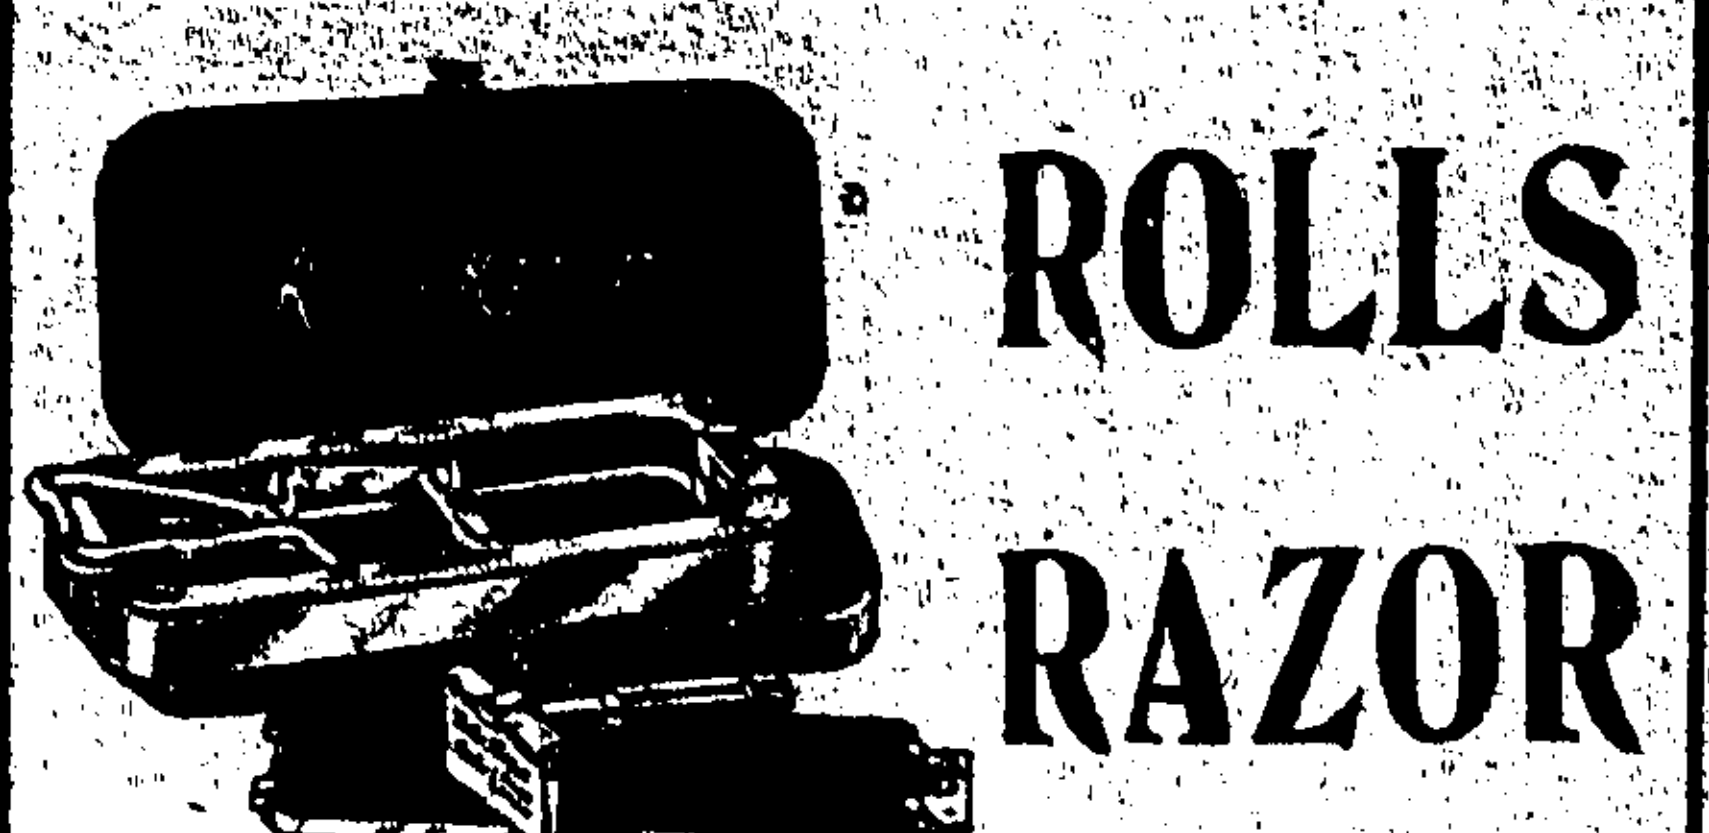

Indians had bitter experience of the treatment of their brethren in colonies elsewhere. Their interests would suffer under Colonial Office dominion.

In all twelve speeches were heard, and only one supported the transfer.

Sir Phiroze Sethna's motion was adopted without dissent.

At question time the Commander-in-Chief said that 24 planes had been employed in bombing Kotkal in the Bajaur territory. Ninety bombs, weighing 10,788 lbs., had been dropped. So far no one was killed and only one man was injured. The expenses so far amounted to Rs. 15,000.

Regarding the expulsion of the Chettiar bankers from Saigon (Indo-China) the Political Secretary stated that as a result of representations by His Majesty's Government on behalf of the Government of India the Governor-General of Indo-China had rescinded the expulsion orders issued against the two Indian bankers who had not yet left the country.

Apart from its efficiency, however, its very moderate first cost is the last. No more blades to buy—no more inconvenience. When buying your Rolls Razor remember the many finishes it is obtainable in—Nickel, Silver Plate, Gold Plate and Finest Stainless Metal—or in most attractive Shaving Sets, and as a solution to another problem, the Rolls Razor is a very acceptable gift!

Here are a few reasons why every man should use a Rolls Razor:

The guarded hollow-ground blade, made of finest Sheffield steel, gives a perfect shave for years.

It is a One Blade Safety—no more blades to buy—and therefore saves money.

The mechanism is designed for perfect Stropping and Honing, which can only be done at the correct angle.

HONG KONG, September 22, 1933.

THE PRESIDENT'S ANXIETY

Mr. Roosevelt's national recovery campaign is now being hampered by strikes. The President is worried, and the rest of the world with him. For most of us realize that new-found prosperity in America would react favourably in all other countries. Nothing is worse for industry than strikes and lockouts. After the war Britain threw away her markets by a long series of labour conflicts, culminating in the General Strike of 1926, and the Coal Strike, from which the British industry never recovered. If American Labour has been infected with the madness that seized the British Trade Unions fourteen years ago, the position is serious.

State adventuring in the sphere of industry is always a desperate remedy. The State is an extravagant employer, and where it works by means of subsidy and supervision those who directly benefit set themselves to make the best of their good fortune, while competitors left outside are wilfully obstructive.

As one of the leading American newspapers puts it:—

"The recovery campaign is suffering from faith without understanding. That also means faith without works. For some are selfishly hampering, and many are failing in their attempt to aid the great national effort because they do not really understand its purpose. Too many codes have been accepted under coercion or as a patriotic gesture. As a result too many are being evaded or fulfilled in letter rather than spirit. There are all kinds of tricks and all kinds of honest mistakes."

In its simplest terms the goal of the recovery programme is to make demand equal supply. It is to encourage the buying which will start the wheels of industry, to stimulate consumption until it balances production. Inflation is designed not so much to relieve debtors as to persuade people to put their savings into buying goods they really need. The farm relief programme is intended not merely to raise the prices of raw materials, but to give the farmer more purchasing power. And the codes for industry are meant essentially as instruments for enabling consumption to catch up with production. Thus it is not enough to put men back to work. They may merely increase overproduction. To be effective under the theory which is the core of the recovery programme, their wages must be sufficient at least to buy the product of their labour—or its equivalent in other commodities. Indeed the effort is to obtain a positive gain for consumption as compared with production. But that is what has not been happening. The depression tended to accelerate cost cutting by the use of machines in place of labour. And in this recent revival, prices have mounted faster than wages, production faster than re-employment. A survey by the Labour Bureau shows that in the last few months there has been in the United States a production increase of 55 per cent. and a rise of only nine per cent. in industrial employment. The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production records an increase of 48 per cent. from March to June while the American Federation of Labour estimates that only 1,500,000 out of 13,000,000 unemployed went back to work in the same period.

Our contemporary concludes by saying:—

For that reason it is imperative that everything possible be done to help employers understand clearly the essential purpose of N.R.A. Economically that purpose is to improve the demand for goods, to increase consumption in relation to production. Morally it is to improve the ethics of business, to end unfair competition.

The last sentence is a hard one. American business, and in fact all business to-day, tends to be conducted on the Red Indian system. You go for your rival with tomahawk and scalping knife, for the very joy of the thing, neither giving nor asking for quarter. Thus the chain stores advanced into American towns, wrecking, or absorbing the smaller trader, and ruining the local banks. They fought each other, and were often enough willing to cut profits if only to drive out the rival. The support of the public was sought by prizes, coupons, rebates and every form of ingenious stunt. When in addition the share-gambling mania seized America, and industry began to be run, not for the sound accumulation of a steady profit year by year, but in to inflate or deflate the market value of the shares, the causes of the great crash became painfully apparent. Industry cannot be run on such lines. America, with her natural wealth, with the amazing energy and ingenuity of her people, and many other natural advantages, cannot do it. Until business ethics change American prosperity will fail to return.

Ever since the young wife of the Rev. Frank Besant, long ago in the mid-Victorian age, was parted from a husband with whom she had a complete incompatibility of mind and temperament, Mrs. Besant's life has been wrapped in controversy, disciples applauding passionately, what critics have vigorously condemned. Disciples and critics might at least agree in conceding to Mrs. Besant the courage of her convictions, startlingly as these have varied at different stages of her development. Dr. Besant was, for instance, an early protagonist of birth control, drawing upon herself a particular storm of opposition against this sphere of her activities.

A WOMAN OF GREAT COURAGE

It required courage in the eighteenth-century for a woman to associate herself with the political and religious radicalism of the "infidel" Bradlaugh; it required courage, later on, to break this close comradeship-in-arms and to pass over to the opposite camp of Fabian Socialism; it required most courage for a thinker who had assailed the claims of supernatural and dogmatic religion with the greatest vehemence to own that she had been converted by Mme. Blavatsky, the notorious medium, to a system of supernatural belief far more staggering to the ordinary intelligence than the most extreme forms of the Bibliolatry or the Puseyism that she had tried and rejected in youth. Courage has been rewarded at any rate by a wide influence over large bodies of listeners; the Theosophical Society is what it is to-day almost entirely through Mrs. Besant's zeal, perseverance and amazing political acumen.

During all her public life Mrs. Besant was a prolific writer and she has written a library of books on political and theosophical matters. She was deeply versed in Indian mysticism and a study of her works would give a wide grasp of the subject.

Mrs. Besant has also taken a great part in Indian agitation, often coming in conflict with the authorities.

Her selection of a young man Krishnamurti, as the reincarnation of the Buddha, and her adoption of him into the Theosophical sect, led to prolonged litigation by his family who strenuously objected.

Krishnamurti was described by the Bishop of London, who with characteristic broadmindedness, met and talked with him at length, as "a very ordinary young man." Later he denied all supernatural claims made on his behalf and retired into private life.

Her Biography.

Probably the best biography of Mrs. Besant is that by Mr. Geoffrey West, who takes us through scene after scene of this strange biographical drama with admirable narrative skill and with a critical aloofness that is on the whole a gain, though in places a loss to his book. He has not tried to please either the enthusiasts or the detractors of Mrs. Besant's personality and achievements. He has tried to be scrupulously fair and to pass a balanced, if inevitably rather frigid, judgment. Some readers will feel that he sways towards partiality with her in his account of her work and agitation in India; others that though his critique of theosophic dogma is piercing, it comes from a mind too remote from traditional religious conceptions to appreciate them quite justly.

TAX ON RICE

Guard against Foreign Dumping

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Sept. 21.

To prevent subterfuge by rice merchants, the Provincial Department of Finance announced to-day that the tax on rice shall be 60 cents national currency per picul or 133.33 pounds.

The official notification pointed out that in recent years there have been heavy exports of rice from Siam and Indo-China with the result that Chinese farmers find it hard to dispose of native rice. Prices of foreign rice are low, and native growers have to reduce the price of their product to compete with imports.

Imposition of rice tax, the notification says, is to protect the farmers from the dumping of foreign cereals. Chinese farming villages are in great distress on account of the foreign competition, it is said, and if no measure is taken to stem such imports, rice planters in Kwangtung will have to give up their farming and face bankruptcy.

Rice merchants in Hong Kong have petitioned for the abolition of this tax and are assured of the support of local rice guild, although the Provincial Department of Finance will not hear of it. Apart from affording protection to rice farmers, the tax yields good returns.

In any case, the Ministry of Finance in Nanking will impose a duty on rice, and in Kwangtung a collection is being made by the Department of Finance ahead of the step to be taken by Nanking. Provincial officials see no reason why an exemption should be made for rice merchants in this province or Hong Kong.

Public Bodies Help

Canton, Sept. 21.
Many public bodies are supporting the provincial department of finance in its collection of rice tax. Women organizations are enthusiastic about this levy and have made public a statement in the press upholding this tax.

Rice tax bureau will be established, besides Canton, in Kowloon, Swatow, Pak Hoi, Shum Chun etc. The local bureau will be located at Ha Gih Po near the rice shops.

The new rate is 60 cents Shanghai currency for 100 catties of imported grains of rice.—Central Press.

ANTI-JAPANESE

BOYCOTT

And Measures That Are Followed

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Sept. 21.

Boycott of Japanese goods in Canton is going on unabated through the Kwangtung National Salvation Association, and two shops in Kung Yat Chung Road (near Shameen) are alleged to be secret depots of Japanese goods.

The proprietors and employees of these shops were taken by inspectors of the National Salvation Association to the Chen Tong Sub-Police Station for examination. It is said that the two shops carried large quantities of Japanese goods in stock some of which were wrapped up in other foreign packages.

Executive officials of the Association are acting as judges, prosecutors and sheriffs in handling seized goods suspected to be of Japanese origin. Two or three times a week, hearings are given to claimants who dispute that their property are not from Japan.

Genuine Japanese merchandise are confiscated and sold by auction. Proceeds are kept by the Association for anti-Japanese activity.

THE REICHSTAG FIRE TRIAL

Vanderlubbe Refuses Legal Help

Leipzig, Sept. 21. A Fascist atmosphere pervaded in the small and overcrowded Supreme Court, when, in the glare of the spotlights, the aged president, Dr. Buenger, opened the trial of the five men accused of arson in the Reichstag on February 28 last together with high treason. Vanderlubbe who is only 24, and walks with a stoop entered the Court heavily manacled but the others had their hands free, surrounded by seven plainclothes policemen. Buenger emphasised the high importance of the trial to Germany and deplored any attempt to judge the trial by the inquiry held in London, and also the way the trial was prejudiced by the foreign Press.

He referred to the monstrous accusations that Nazi leaders fired the Reichstag themselves and informed Vanderlubbe that death penalty was prescribed for the offence with which he was charged.

The examination of Vanderlubbe followed, for which he refused legal aid, including the services of the Dutch advocate, Stomper, who, instructed by Vanderlubbe's family, flew to Leipzig.—Reuter.

Much Excitement At Leipzig

Leipzig, Sept. 21. ON THE eve of the opening of the great Reichstag fire trial, Dr. Parrissius, who organised the evidence for the trial in a statement to the press, indicated that only Vanderlubbe will be specifically charged with incendiarism, while Torgler, the Communist leader and three Bulgarians, will be charged with high treason, of which the Reichstag fire is only a part.

Vanderlubbe will be accused of incendiarism in four cases, namely, at the Reichstag, the City Hall, the former Imperial Palace in Berlin and the Welfare Office.

Dr. Parrissius emphasised the publicity given to the proceedings, and declared, "we have nothing to conceal. We desire truth and justice to prevail."

Eighty-one foreign pressmen will be among the 123 journalists in court, and gramophone records of important passages in evidence will be broadcast.

M. Stomper, the Dutch Counsel commissioned to defend Vanderlubbe will not be admitted to Court.—Reuter.

LONDON "SHADOW TRIAL"

London, Sept. 21. The Communist prisoners were exonerated in the Reichstag "shadow trial" held here by an international legal commission whose lengthy finding conclude with the statement that the accused, Torgler, Dimitoff, Popoff and Tanneff, were not concerned directly or indirectly with the fire.

The commission adds that grave grounds exist to suspect that the Reichstag was set on fire on behalf of leading Nazi personalities. The commission found that the fifth accused, Vanderlubbe, was an anti-Communist, who could not have committed the crime alone.—Reuter.

DISARMAMENT CONVERSATIONS

Special Meeting Of British Cabinet

London, Sept. 20. A FULL report of the Disarmament conversations in Paris was presented to a special meeting of the Cabinet held in Downing Street yesterday afternoon. The purpose of the Paris talks was mainly explanatory and exploratory, and the British Cabinet was yesterday, for the first time, in a position to understand what the French Government have in mind on every point which arises in connection with the Disarmament problem.

It is understood that the British Ministers were much impressed by their helpful and reasonable attitude, and it was found that the views of the two Governments do not largely differ on any question.

The British Government are at present considering the Disarmament Convention in relation to the French proposals regarding supervision and inspection of armaments, but that is only one of the points which must be considered in relation to the whole Disarmament Conference, and upon which no "Government" can alone reach a decision.

In Geneva, next week, conversations will take place in which Italian, American and German representatives will also take part. Within the last week or two, Mr. Norman Davis, Chief American Delegate, has discussed the points at issue, with the British Ministers in London and with the French Ministers in Paris, while the Italian Government has also contributed helpful suggestions to these exchanges among the representatives of the chief Powers.

The general effect is that an agreement within recent weeks has been brought sensibly nearer, and, although many difficult points are still outstanding, the chances of securing a Disarmament Convention have undergone a distinct improvement since the Conference adjourned last June.—British Wireless Service.

BRITISH MINISTERS FOR GENEVA

London, Sept. 20. THE Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, and the Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Captain Anthony Eden, will leave London either to-day or to-morrow, for Geneva.

They will break their journey in Paris, where they will see the French Ministers who took part in the conversations with Captain Eden and Lord Tyrrell earlier this week.—British Wireless Service.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN

Joint Development Of Their Resources

Tokyo, Sept. 21. Great importance is attached to the activities of M. Baryshnikov, Director of the Soviet State Bank and a delegate to the Conference now proceeding here for the sale of the Chinese Eastern Railway, according to the newspaper Hochi, which says that M. Baryshnikov is not confining his activities to the Conference but is extending his interest to other fields, with a view to establishing an economic alliance between the Soviet and Japan. He is also reported to be organising a Russo-Japanese Bank.

The newspaper says the projected economic alliance is intended to secure a smooth flow of merchandise between the two countries, with the establishment of long-term mutual credit and the joint development of the resources of the two nations in the Far East.—Reuter.

EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN

The full Austrian Cabinet has not yet finally been announced, but Dr. Dollfuss is to be Chancellor, Foreign Minister, Minister of Agriculture, Minister of Defence and Minister of Public Security, so as to be head of the Army Police and Gendarmes.

Major Fey is to be Vice-Chancellor and Dr. Buresch, Finance Minister. The Government will consist of five Ministers and seven Secretaries of State.—Reuter.

Nazis Opposed.

Vienna, Later. Dr. Dollfuss, the Austrian Chancellor, appear to have almost completely capitulated to the Heimwehr, the Austrian Fascist organisation under Prince Starhemberg.

The new Government seems to be Fascist and likely to be pro-Italian. It will be opposed to the Nazis and Socialists.

The Heimwehr has no wide or popular following in the country.—Reuter.

634 members of the New York exchange including Whitney, the president, have agreed to join the movement which was launched by twelve of the most influential firms in Wall Street.

No decision has been arrived at regarding the location of the Stock Exchange, and though the majority favour Jersey City, Newark is not yet eliminated.

The new exchange may operate within a fortnight, dealing initially with a limited list of stocks to which additions will be made from time to time.

Meanwhile fifty thousand employees in Wall Street have signed a petition against the proposed tax, the Chairman of which is Mr. Curtis Dall, President Roosevelt's son-in-law.—Reuter.

TENTATIVE PLANS

To Impose Extra Fees On Imports

New York, Sept. 21. ADMINISTRATIVE officials in Washington have drafted a tentative plan enabling the President to impose extra fees additional to import duties owing to the reported fears that the import of cheaply manufactured commodities might disrupt portions of the N.I.R.A. programme. The New York N.I.R.A. chairman, Grover Whalen, has, in the meantime, been appointed to the committee of credit bankers to consider applications from businessmen and employers for loans from bank credits to enable employers to carry on business and meet the increased wages payable under the code.—Reuter.

The President announces that contracts have already been let and under no circumstances will be recalled.

Navy officials point out that this building programme will still leave the United States 100 ships below the authorised strength of 1936.—Reuter.

HUAIJU OCCUPIED LEST WE FORGET

By Fang Chen Wu's Troops

Peiping, Sept. 21. An official communique issued by the branch of the Military Council here this afternoon states that General Fang Chen Wu arrived in Huaiju yesterday with two thousand troops and immediately after the occupation of the city, General Fang's men disarmed the special police and took under surveillance the City Magistrate and Director of Public Safety.

Advance guards of these troops are showing signs of advancing on Shunyi which is less than 20 miles to the North of Peiping.

The communique also states that a Japanese plane flew over Shunyi City this morning, saying that it is significant that this aerial visit came on the first day after the occupation to Huaiju by General Fang's troops.

The Military Council this morning discussed the question of Huaiju but did not come to any decision. Meanwhile negotiations have been started with Colonel Shabiyama, the Japanese Attaché for permission to send Chinese troops into Huaiju to expel the rebels.—Reuter.

FRIENDLY FEELING MUST STAND

The Situation In Jehol

Peiping, Sept. 21. General Fang Chen Wu, Chi Hung Chang, Liu Kwei Tang and Cheng Kwei Lin have their forces united and concentrated at Tu Shih Kow, Central Chahar, and are ready to push into Jehol.

Their troops are in the best of spirits, while the populace are giving them every support. This has created alarm in the camp of the Manchukuo and Japanese troops, and airplanes were sent to Tu Shih Kow to reconnoiter on the position of the anti-Japanese forces.

In view of the precarious situation, General Ho Ying Ching, Minister of War, sent a high staff officer to inform the commanding officer of the local Japanese garrison and assure him that proper checks will be made against the anti-Japanese troops. The Japanese officer is asked to convey this matter to the Japanese Kwantung command.

General Ho requests the Japanese not to aggravate the matter and urges that the friendly feeling and understanding envisaged by the Tangku armistice must remain undisturbed.—Central Press.

Accusation Against Japan

Peiping, Sept. 21. The sudden appearance of about six hundred bandit-soldiers in Huaiju, near Melyun, yesterday morning is arousing Chinese suspicion that the Japanese have reached a certain measure of understanding with the ex-Kuomintang troops, under the command of Fang Chen Wu and Chi Hung Chang, and that the latter are afforded facilities by the Japanese to make their way into the northern border districts of Jehol. The force of six hundred men in question is reported to be belonging to General Fang Chen Wu's army. It is further learned that the ex-Kuomintang forces intend to move to Luentung where they can expect sufficient local revenue to support them.—Central News Agency.

COMPLICATIONS FEARED

Peiping, Sept. 21. Some concern is felt about the activities of troops belonging to General Fang Chen Wu, the former adherent of Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, there being a fear that complications with the Japanese may result.

It is officially reported that a body of six hundred of these troops entered the town of Huaiju, near Miyun, in the demilitarised zone.

The local authorities regard them in the light of armed bandits, but owing to the Tangku Truce they are unable to send in troops to remove the menace.—Reuter.

THE COTTON TRADE

Nanking, Sept. 21. Chinese Press reports state that the authorities intend to call a meeting of Chinese cotton interests in Shanghai early in October, with a view to finding out the capacity of the Chinese mills in absorbing the cotton bought under the terms of the American Loan.

MR. HUANG FU

A Well-Known Revolutionary

Canton, Sept. 21. A memorial service for Mr. Chu Chih Hsin was held this morning at the Chungshan Memorial Hall. A well known revolutionary leader, he was killed on September 21, 1920 at Bocca Tigris forts by lackeys of General Mo Yung Hsin, the notorious militarist.

The late Chu Chih Hsin was a close follower of Dr. Sun Yat Sen and took part in the memorable coup d'etat on March 29, 1911 against the Canton Viceroy. He was also responsible for rallying all the military leaders in Canton to take a united stand against the monarchical designs of President Yuan Shih Kai.—Central Press.

Among the high officials who attended the air show were Generals Hsiang Han Ping, Ou Fang Pu, Tseng Keng, Rear Admiral Y. C. Kiang, Rear Admiral Chang Chi Ying, Mayor Liu Chi Wen, Dr. Kan Chieh Hou and others.

Speeches were made by Lieutenant General Huang Kwang Jul, commandant of the air force and by some of the guests. All emphasized that aviation can save the country as laid down by Dr. Sun Yat Sen some years ago.—Central Press.

THE AXE FALLS

Gen. Pao Yu Lin First To Go

Shanghai, Sept. 21. In conformance with the decision at the third Kuling Conference, Mr. Wang Ching Wei, president of the Executive Yuan and General Chiang Kai Shek, chairman of the Nanking Military Commission, are taking steps to disband some of the north-eastern forces in the Peiping area as well as those Shanxi troops under General Shang Cheng.

A start was made by the dismissal of Brigadier General Pao Yu Lin as chief of police in Peiping, notwithstanding that although a member of the northern military clique, Pao is well liked by the people in the former capital.

This move on the part of Nanking has spread consternation to the northern generals who pledge solidarity among themselves vis-à-vis the Nanking government.—Central Press.

CIVIL STRIFE IN HSINKIANG

General Ma Stirs Up Trouble

Nanking, Sept. 21. On receipt of the above report, the Commission for Mongolian and Tibetan Affairs at Nanking held an urgent meeting to discuss the matter. The commission has resolved to urge the Chinese Government to order General Sheng Shih Tsai to embark on an expedition against the rebels who are apparently insincere in accepting the Central Government's compromise terms.—Central News Agency.

He is staying in his new mansion in Frenchtown. Mr. Wang Keh Ming, a well known pro-Japanese politician, is a frequent visitor to Mr. Huang.

General Chiang Kai Shek, chairman of the Nanking Military Commission, sent Lieutenant General Chen Yi, vice-minister of war, to Shanghai to see Mr. Huang who, however, declined to receive visitors due to the hopelessness of the northern situation.—Central Press

1ST MANCHUKUO ANNIVERSARY

Elaborate Celebrations In Japan

Tokyo, Sept. 15. The first anniversary of Japan's formal recognition of Manchukuo was celebrated here, as in Manchukuo with numerous ceremonies to-day.

An elaborate luncheon party was given at the Manchukuo Legation, under the auspices of General Ting Hsiu Yuan, Minister to Japan. Hundreds of Government officials and civil leaders were among the guests, including the Prime Minister (Viscount Makoto Saito), the War Minister (Lieut. Gen. Sadao Araki), the Navy Minister (Admiral Mineo Osumi), and Mr. Koki Hirota, the new Minister for Foreign Affairs. Another major ceremony took place at the official residence of Gen. Ting in the afternoon, when more than 600 prominent persons were present.

Dr. J. B. Mackie of the Kowloon Mortuary who performed the post-mortem said that he considered death was caused by heart failure caused by deceased's syphilitic condition.

THE COUNTRY CLUB

Where Perfect Harmony
Prevails

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Some years ago, there was a Club in Tai Liang, New Territories, which was known as the Lusitano Golf Club. As may be deduced from the name, membership was confined to the Portuguese community and while the "social" branch of the Lusitano was doing well enough, there was not the support for the golf section that had been hoped for. The result was that those responsible for the running of this section had a discussion as to the ways and means of keeping the thing going and after some deliberation, it was decided that if the Club was given an international character, more support would be forthcoming.

This proved to be a happy plan and, so encouraging was the response that about five years ago, the Country Club was formed, and ever since this institution has gone from strength to strength.

The membership is not very big; in fact there are about only 100 names on the list, and this includes a number of ladies, but the axiom that strength does not lie in numbers is more than borne out in this instance.

The Club may best be described as one happy family, and is the best report one can wish for to those pessimistic people who hold that in a place like Hong Kong, anything of an international character must needs be a failure.

I had a conversation with one of the members who told me that in the Country Club, one is always at home. The atmosphere is of the friendliest nature and so far as "esprit de corps" is concerned, this Club is second to none. Rather a bold statement to make, I grant, but when it is the unanimous opinion of the members, and I might add that practically every community is represented in this institution, one cannot but accept it.

The Club boasts a long nine hole course in Tai Liang which is about a mile away from the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club course in Fanling. One can go out by train or by motor, and in either case, a pleasant trip is assured. From the Un Loong main road, the approach to the Club is the reverse of tedious and I have known people who actually went out on the bus, "just for the fun of the thing!"

The course is being constantly improved and those in charge spare no effort to give members and their friends the best of everything. The clubhouse is a bungalow type brick building, and besides the usual dressing rooms (and a bar, of course) and a ladies' room, there is a spacious verandah where those not taking part in the games may sit and enjoy the delightful fresh air. Meals may also be had in the Club, and during week-ends and holidays, a large number of people are to be found making use of the course and the clubhouse.

Mr. H. K. Lee is the president of the Country Club for the year and Mr. John Litton is the popular secretary. Both of them are enthusiastic followers of the Royal and Ancient game, and it is their keenest that makes things so agreeable for the members.

Competitions are run from time to time, and every year there is much rivalry in the championship events. There is a senior event and a junior one, and, on the whole, the standard of golf here compares quite favourably with that in the other clubs.

A CLEVER VARIATION OF CONFIDENCE TRICK

European Gaoled For Duping Merchant

Singapore, Sept. 14.

Lambert Nasse, a Rangoon Eurasian, who had been convicted by Mr. J. F. F. Gregg, of what his worship characterised as a "clever variation of the confidence trick," appeared yesterday for sentence before Mr. R. J. F. Curtis, the third magistrate.

The complainant was a Singapore merchant M. W. J. Nannayakara, and his story, as set out by his counsel, Mr. V. J. Mendis, was that he had been induced to part with $300 owing to false representations made by the accused.

Nasse had originally been defended by Mr. H. R. Wilson but later decided to conduct his own defence. He was remanded after conviction pending arrival of accused's finger prints from Rangoon.

Yesterday Court Inspector R. D. Wightman mentioned that Nasse's record showed three previous convictions for cheating in Rangoon.

Accused: What three?—Yes. Accused: Certainly not.

Inspector Wightman: You were sentenced to three terms of imprisonment on three charges tried together, the sentences to run concurrently.

Accused was then committed to the Criminal District Court to receive his sentence, where it was decided that he could only be said to have one conviction. Sentence of one year's police supervision was imposed.

Accused: I beg to bring to your honours' notice that I have been in custody since July.

His honour: It is very suitable then that you should serve a year's imprisonment.

NEW GERMANY—BY 3 EUROPEAN THINKERS

Romain Rolland-Baron Robert Fabre-Luce-Rudolf G. Binding

The world has not yet formed a settled judgment about the new Germany. One may perhaps even say that there is as yet no public opinion concerning the Germany which has developed out of the national revolution. At the moment the organs of public opinion are open to all reports and every shade of opinion. The internal enemies of the national Government therefore find it easy to win a hearing for their complaints; but also for their abuse and for their lies. Old friends of Germany are not yet clear about the development in progress. They do not yet see the spirit below the surface driving the powers whose public utterances they hear, but in part do not yet understand. And some of those, too, who belong to the intelligentsia of other nations, are ready to listen to what the internal enemies of the new Germany tell them. And for those who see Germany and the events in Germany from outside, Germany now wears an appearance so entirely changed, that they are somewhat alarmed.

It is therefore a welcome event when the intellectual leaders of various opinions to-day discuss the new Germany in the full light of publicity. Such a discussion recently took place in the "Kölnische Zeitung" between Romain Rolland, Baron Robert Fabre-Luce and Rudolf G. Binding.

This discussion in the shape of open letters will help to clarify public opinion. We can only wish it therefore the widest possible publicity.

Romain Rolland Attacks The Swastika Creed.

Romain Rolland wrote on May 14 to the "Kölnische Zeitung" in answer to a comment by this paper. A correspondent had expressed regret that even from Romain Rolland a contribution was to be found in a propaganda pamphlet called the "Anti-Fascist Front." Romain Rolland emphasizes his love for Germany and the fact that he has stoutly defended her against the injustice and lack of sympathy shown her by the outside world. He sees, however, the Germany which he loves, the cosmopolitan Germany of the great "Weltbürger" (Weltbürger) trodden under foot by the Germany of the Swastika. He concludes by saying that National Fascist Germany is the worst enemy of the real Germany and its policy a crime against the spirit of man.

Fabre-Luce's Reply.

Fabre-Luce answered him in a letter dated June 8. He has been some months in Germany and here, as he writes, he has used his eyes and ears and formed conclusions. He says that Romain Rolland judges present-day Germany very unjustly and continues: "How can this admirer of the French and Russian Revolutions take account of the blood shed in the National Revolution?"

The blood shed was not that of Communists, but of National Socialists. Fabre-Luce admires the coolness and moderation of the leaders who directed the Revolution and is not sure whether he ought not to admire still more the restraint and discipline of the mass of the people. The act by which Germany has freed herself from the danger which threatened her, as long as she followed the erroneous teaching about the Rights of Man, Fabre-Luce regards as the fulfilment of an historical mission. This false teaching Fabre-Luce stigmatises as "a most unnatural conception and at the same time an error fraught with the gravest consequences." The popular movement is to Fabre-Luce "the highest stage reached by civilisation, not a relapse into Middle Ages," a phrase used by Romain Rolland in this connection.

Rudolf Binding's Enthusiasm.

Fabre-Luce has written as an honest French critic of the new movement, which he has seen for himself at first hand. He is a politician whose own standpoint makes it easy for him to find a path to an understanding of the new Germany. Rudolf Binding, on the other hand, open letter in the "Kölnische Zeitung" of June 25, speaks with the voice of the German people and the German Genius. Their understanding of the new movement is the outcome of feeling, because they have the movement in their very life-blood, because it is their movement, their own development; for ten years they have felt within themselves the longing to be free and now see themselves before the fulfilment of this desire.

Rudolf Binding understands Romain Rolland's complaint and his pain in seeing his "dearest ideal" destroyed. But he replies: "What we should love if we mean to love a nation is not an abstract ideal, but men of flesh and blood. We must understand struggling, doubting, courageous and inexorable men, fools, enthusiasts and fanatics. If we mean to understand a Nation that is uplifting itself. We must understand a people lived in a situation which drove 294,900 men to suicide. We must understand its leaders who led it towards a new future. The coldness with which a part of the world regards the new Germany, a coldness which Romain Rolland has termed the "banishment from Science and Art," cannot be overcome, according to Binding, by explanations. Germany can only disarm such an attitude by achievements in the spheres of Science and Art. The German people, which to-day is united and through its present unification for the first time a nation. It will win the world's recognition in these two spheres in proportion as it feels the stimulus resulting from its unity. It has indeed already won this recognition, at a time too, when it was gradually perishing from utter spiritual destitution.

Germany United.

For fourteen years the German people were unable to feel themselves a people under the dictated peace of Versailles, which then formed the foundation of the state. Now a leader has come who has succeeded in uniting the German people as a nation. He has thereby broken the demoralising effect of the Treaty of Versailles. Germany has been born out of the longing for Germany. Before this tremendous event, all incidental phenomena, which only formed the opening phases, must pale into insignificance. Binding ignores none of the charges which Romain Rolland and the world make against the German Revolution. He does not deny them; but he wants to see them put in the right light and given no more importance than they deserve. When Romain Rolland draws a distinction between the genuine Germany which he loves and the Germany of to-day, Binding has already ruled this standpoint out of discussion with his demand that we must love men of flesh and blood, if we mean to love a nation. He adds that Romain Rolland should not try to teach Adolf Hitler and the whole German nation a definition of what "German" really means. He argues that the great cosmopolitan Germans, whom Romain Rolland loves, were really as German at heart as Göring, Götter, any S.A. man you care to mention, or Binding himself, although they are all so very different. The influence of these cosmopolitan Germans upon foreign nations does not depend upon their "internationalism" but upon their "universality." In the end only those can understand the German Revolution who understand Germany's great longing to be allowed to be German. This longing is no militant but defensive, it is not political but natural, it is not arrogant and superficial but mainly and spiritual. The world can not overestimate the religious sincerity underlying the German revolution. It must not regard external appearances. The greatness of the revolution lies in the fact that a people now believes in itself which had lost belief in itself, and that this belief has ennobled it.

OBITUARY

Mr. C. F. Hewett

His many friends in Malaya will regret to hear of the death at St. David's Ealing London, W., of Mr. C. F. Hewett, J.F., the well-known Sittawan planter.

Mr. Hewett was General Manager of Lumut Rubber Estates, Ltd., and was one of the oldest planters in the district, when, owing to continued ill-health, he was obliged to go home for good a couple of years ago.

He took a keen interest in the affairs of the Sittawan District and for his public services was made a Justice of the Peace for Perak several years ago.

Sungai Wang Estate, which is the property of the Lumut Rubber Estates Ltd., is over 4,000 acres in extent and is one of the finest rubber estates in the country.

His successful development was entirely due to Mr. Hewett, who was a very able planter.

Mr. Hewett, on his retirement, was invited to join the Board of Directors of the Company.

Mr. Hewett was the son of the late Colonel G. L. K. Hewett, C.B., and his home in England was Old Lodge, Woking.

Shareholders of the Green Island Cement Company will notice from an advertisement in this issue that a call of $3.75 is being made on shareholders, who, on September 21, held shares in the company in which only $375 has been paid.

When eleven Chinese pleaded guilty before Mr. Wynne-Jones yesterday of stowing away on the King Yuen, Mr. Wynne-Jones fined them $25 each, or in default fourteen days' hard labour each.

AMENDED WILL OF SIR J. ELLERMAN

Full Effect Of 1933 Codicil

COMPANY DIVISION PLAN (Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Aug. 23. Provisions made in the £17,000,000 will of Sir John Ellerman—for the division of Ellerman Lines Ltd. into two companies are revoked in the codicil to the will.

In Clause 4 of his will Sir John said: "I request (but not so to impose an obligation) that within two years from my death, or at such later period as my trustees may deem desirable, the Ellerman Lines Ltd. shall be divided into two companies." Details followed of how the division was to be made.

In the codicil, which is dated Feb. 23, 1933, nearly three years later than the will, Sir John said: "Whereas since this will was executed the country has gone off the Gold Standard, and I have, in lieu of severing the Ellerman Lines Limited, applied to, and got the sanction of the Court to repaying £6 per share, which has been repaid, the directions as to severing the Ellerman Lines Limited are to be null and void."

£10,000,000 For Legacies

A passage in the will with the side-heading "Provision for abatement of legacies," states that if, in the opinion of the trustees, the aggregate value of the trust fund, plus the value of the amount required to answer or provide for legacies and annuities, shall amount to less than a net sum of £3,000,000, then all the legacies and annuities thereby or by any codicil bequeathed shall be reduced by one quarter except those stated in the will or in any schedule thereto to be not reducible.

The codicil—as was stated in "The Daily Telegraph"—increased certain legacies by 50 or 25 per cent., either "owing to taxation"—in the case of Lady Ellerman—or "to meet the fall in the value of the pound by reason of the country having gone off the Gold Standard." The codicil also increased the sum of £8,000,000 mentioned under "Provision for abatement of legacies" to £10,000,000.

The legacies to be increased by 50 per cent. include those to: Lady Ellerman (£150,000 and a life annuity of £30,000, free of tax);

His daughter, Annie Winifred MacPherson (£800,000 absolutely and £800,000 upon trust);

His sister, Mrs. Ida Mary Butlin (£7,500 and an annuity of £1,000);

His sister, Mrs. Emily Mary Todd (£7,500 and a life annuity of £1,000);

In the legacy of his niece, Ida Mary Cox, and her appointees, cash is substituted for shares in Ellerman Lines Limited. All the cash payable is increased by 25 per cent., and the aggregate sum of the legacy in cash is increased by a further 25 per cent.

Increase of 25 per cent. are made in the legacies to the following:

Arthur Todd (nephew) and his wife and issue (£15,625 upon trust and a life annuity of £400);

John Todd (nephew) and his wife and issue (£15,000 upon trust);

Constance Colman (niece) (£8,125 upon trust);

Gladys Todd (niece) and her appointees (£7,500 upon trust).

Gifts To Employees

Legacies in the first schedule of the will, which mentions 43 names, besides a number of domestic servants not referred to individually, are also increased by 25 per cent.

The following bequests are increased by 25 per cent.

To ten "friends" a total of £8,000.

To twenty employees of Ellerman Lines Limited subsidiary companies a total of £12,250.

To ten members of the Ellerman Lines (Moorgate staff) a total of £5,250.

To three servants, individually named—a total of £1,750.

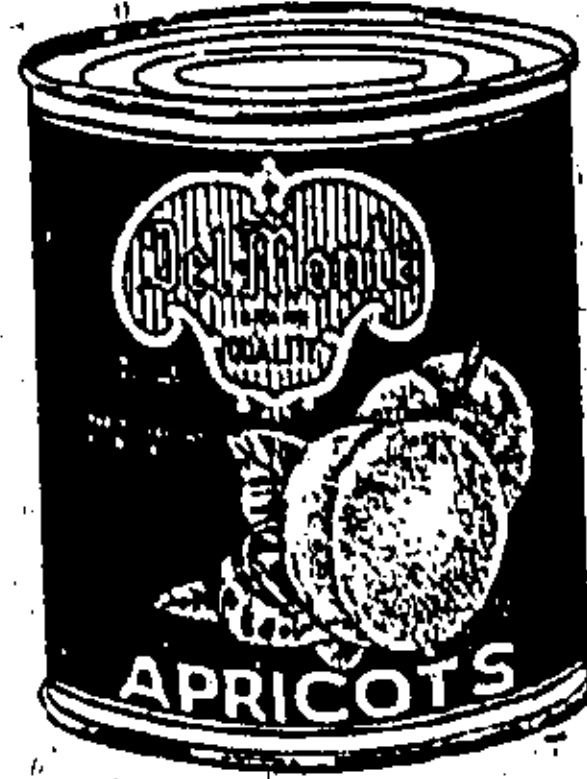

In addition to the 25 per cent. increase the legacy to Hubert Stanley Holden (£1,750) is increased by £750, and the legacies to Sir John's butler, A. Paton, and his chauffeurs, H. Watson and J. Steer £14,375 each, are increased by a further £500 each "irrespective of whether they are in the employment or not."

The £16,000 left to the special fund created by Ellerman Lines to meet necessary cases is increased by the codicil by a further £15,000.

The codicil directs that any clause in the will shall be deleted which states that if the executors were unable to agree with the Government about the value of certain stocks or shares they could offer to give the Government stock or shares in lieu of duty in cash.

It is deeds, not words, that count, except, of course, when you are sending a telegram.

AIR SERVICE TO SINGAPORE

Cheaper Than Rail Or Boat Fares

London, Sept. 20.

The International Air Traffic Association will hold its half yearly conference in London next week. Thirty countries will be represented, and Mr. Woods Humphrey, Managing Director of Imperial Airways, will preside.

Membership of the Association is limited to firms running regular air lines in their own or other countries. Among the matters to be considered are the unification of methods of operation and the facilitation of passenger and goods traffic.

National Air Transport Companies are extending the work being done by private aeroplanes owners in encouraging continental touring. They are offering air travel at fares often below those of corresponding first class rail and boat travel, and they are working to a percentage efficiency figure now comparable with that for trains and boats.

One of the important developments in British air transport is the extension of the Indian air line to Calcutta and thence, next month, to Rangoon.

By Christmas it is hoped that the line will have been extended to Singapore, and then the final link between England and Australia will remain for the Dominions to complete—British Wireless Service.

MEETING STOPPED

The Hohenzollern League

Cologne, Sept. 21.

Hen Schmitt, the leader of the Hohenzollern League, whose original aim was to foster the return of the Hohenzollerns, is reported to have been arrested.

The League's meeting in its Headquarters at Krefeld to-day was prohibited, and according to a report, the arrest was not a measure against the league but Schmitt personally—Reuter.

PEIPING'S CAUTION

Peking, Sept. 18.

With the second anniversary of the Mukden incident of September 18, 1931, three days away, local Chinese organisations have started preparations to mark it in a fitting manner. It is understood that, in order to avoid incidents, the local authorities have decided to prevent open-air demonstrations—Reuter.

CAPT. FRITZ KRUSE
PROMOTEDCommodore of Hamburg-AmericaCaptain Fritz Kruse, Master of the famous German cruise ship Resolute, which visits Hong Kong every year, has been appointed Commodore of the Hamburg-America Line.

The new Commodore of the Hamburg-America Line's fleet, Captain Fritz Kruse, was born in Stettin, Germany, on June 4, 1874. He began his seafaring career in 1890 at the age of 16, and sailed in ships to North and South America, the East Indies and Australia for many years. On December 6, 1899, he joined the Hamburg-America Line
as fourth officer of the steamer
Graf Waldersee, and in March, 1901,
he obtained his master's papers.
As first officer he plied between
New York and the West Indies on board one of the ships in the line's Atlas service, and when,
in 1909, the liner Cleveland was scheduled to make the first pleasure cruise around the world he was appointed to the ship as executive officer. For his services on the voyage he was presented with the golden medal of the Hamburg-America Line in August, 1910. In 1913, as captain of the Suevia, he was engaged in the East Asia run.
In November, 1913, he was staff
captain on board the liner Impera-tor, which position he held until the outbreak of the war.

POST-WAR CAREER.

After the war Captain Kruse
first commanded the paddle steamer Princessin Heinrich between Swinemunde and Pillau, maintaining connections between East Prussia and Germany. Later he was in command of the cargo vessel Frankfort, operating to Sweden, Finland and England, and up the Rhine to Cologne, and then the passenger and freight vessels Amasia, Schwarzwald and Westerwald. In December, 1925, he was transferred to the trans-Atlantic service as commander of the Thüringia.

In August, 1928, Captain Kruse took over the Resolute, which command he held until his new appointment as commodore and commander of the New York became effective this month. Captain Kruse has made 13 cruises around the world and, in addition, he has made cruises in different ships of the line to the Orient, the Mediterranean, but the West Indies and to the Norwegian fjords.
